A lecturer on art spoke before a group of men in an industrial city, telling them the duty of trying to put more beauty into their surroundings. At the close of the talk, a leading citizen came up to have a few words with the lecturer.
"I enjoyed your remarks," he said.
"I don't agree with you," the lecturer replied. "The fact is that we have no time here for beauty. The prosperity of

"Yet," retorted the lecturer, smiling,
"you yourself are seeking beauty, according to your light.
You may not have found it, but I know you are aiming at what you think makes for greater attractiveness."
"No, you're wrong," insisted the hard-headed man. "I'm not interested in beauty."
"Then," said the lecturer, "if you don't mind my being so personal,
will you please tell me why you have died your whiskers?"

lumber, so that the grain from the prairies might be ground up, and the coarse by-products of the milling operations could be fed to stock.
The power that could be developed from the water resources was of the greatest importance in the utilization of the mineral resources. An instance of this was afforded in the Trail Smelter development.

In this matter of mineral resources it appeared as if the ground had just been scratched. It had not been adequately prospected as yet.
In this connection he referred to the possibilities that there appeared from recent reports to be available in the vicinity of Albert Canyon.

REV. MR. BRUCE'S WELCOME
On the invitation of the chairman,
Mr. W. O. Wallace, the Premier had been introduced by Rev. Montague W. J. Bruce, who said that although he took a deep interest in politics he was not an active politician. He felt, however, it was an honor to be associated with Hon. Dr. Tolmie.
The riding of South had been honored by the Premier when the latter issued his manifesto from his own riding.

Mr. Bruce said that he had found the Premier a most sympathetic man in all his dealings with him.
He was struck by the characteristic of the Premier in wanting to know if a course was right before deciding upon it.

PASSENGERS TELL OF LONG 4-DAY FLIGHT

ripped into shreds, endangering control of the ship.
It was about 8 o'clock in the morning," continued Mr. Guilfin.
"We were all sitting at breakfast when the ship bumped in a peculiar fashion. Her nose went down and we came dangerously near the water.
The helmsman peered her up so sharply that passengers, dishes and chairs went sliding down the dining saloon floor. The beautiful set of china, which was given the ship by a German manufacturer, was shattered into bits.

RAPIDLY SCARED
"From then on we were on the anxious seat until we sighted American shores. It was necessary to reduce the ship's speed because of the damaged fin. The crew attempted to repair the damage, but the fabric ripped off again. The wind pressure at sixty miles an hour is so great one can hardly hold his hand out of a cabin window. In my high wind this pressure on the tail made repairs to the fin ineffective.
"The damaged fin, lack of sleep because of our anxiety and the frequent descents close to the water made the remainder of the trip anything but pleasant."

FINE BEGINNING
"The trip across Germany and down the Mediterranean was beautiful," went on Mr. Guilfin. "The weather was balmy. We were told our first chance to mail cards would be at the crossing of the Rhine.
We all scribbled away industriously.
The mail was made up into a package and dropped out a window. The sailor said the package struck a bank of the river, but with my glasses I saw it drop into the Rhine falls.

"All across Germany whistles blew and microphones were pointed to us from the fields and villages.
We flew mostly over land at an altitude of 1500 feet. The moment we crossed the French frontier the weather changed. There were no more whistles and the people stared up apathetically at us.

"At Barcelona we were given a great reception. It is the home of Colonel Emilio Herrera, of the Spanish Navigation Department, who was a fellow passenger."

CRAMPED QUARTERS
"To my mind the airship is a long way from being a practical means of transportation over long distances, because it is uncomfortable.
Our cabins were very small. There was little room to exercise. We couldn't smoke. The food was really canned food heated on an electric stove. We ran short of wine as well as water.

"Captain Bekker and the officers were fine. They did everything possible to make us comfortable.
They were exceedingly democratic.
We were allowed to go into the navigation cabin in the nose of the ship whenever we liked. The officers explained everything to us.
What I say about airship travel is no criticism of them in the slightest.
"In spite of these limitations we started the passage of the Atlantic in good spirits. The ship was put on a higher level for the ocean flight, about 3,000 feet. The passengers played cards, chatted, or wrote postcards for amusement.

Sunday at Toronto in her sixty-first year.

honorary secretary of the Christian Peace Association. From December, 1912, to the following May, she was in charge of a social service worker, met every three weeks with the ladies of St. James Woods, and above all, she was a devoted mother of three children. James Arthur, eldest son, more joy than when we sighted it today," added Mr. Guilfin. "The flight over Washington was interesting, but I was eager to get earth under my feet again. New York looked like a children's toy village.

The welcome we got was inspiring.
It was a great experience, I suppose,
but hereafter I stick to ocean liners.
"We made the longest flight man has made in the air to date. But from the ordinary passenger's point of view that was the chief trouble with it. For the airship, as I see it, did not justify the trip. It was in present stage of development to commend it to the traveler. Which reminds me, I haven't had a bath for five days."

DIFFERENT VERDICT
LAKEHURST, N.J., Oct. 15.— Lady Grace Drummond Hay, the only woman aboard the Graf Zeppelin on its transatlantic flight, said tonight that the trip "was intensely, interesting and enjoyable."
"Not a soul was sick," she said.
"We were shaken a bit when the ship was damaged, but that was all."

SECOND TRIAL NECESSARY ON LIBEL CHARGE

"I would have nothing to do with him," said Phipps, "so Cockerill apparently decided to try to get something on me."

TABLECLOTH INCIDENT
An olecloth tablecloth, supposed to have been used for writing receipts for protection money, came into the story, later witnesses declaring they had examined it and found nothing but a skull and crossbones drawing and a few dates written on the back. This information was given by Chief John Fry and Mayor J. C. Pendray, of Victoria, who told of Mr. Cockerill approaching them with charges against Phipps, which he did not substantiate when asked for some proof.

Phipps' evidence that he was subjected to an inquiry by the police commissioner in connection with a charge that he failed to turn over money found on the body of a murdered man, and that he was given the benefit of the doubt and exonerated, was confirmed by the chief and mayor.

Called by the defence, Mr. W. G.
Lambert, a resident of Victoria, declared he never heard rumors that Phipps received money from a sporting house.
"If they come to me regarding advertising, I would just as leave take their money as anyone's," he said.

Responsibility for starting the trouble was placed on the defence.

Graf Zeppelin Anchors After Longest Nonstop Flight Yet Made by Man

The great silver ship made her bow to the waiting continent at 9:45 o'clock this morning. Eastern standard time when she was sighted from Cape Charles, Va., northern promontory of the entrance of Chesape-sake Bay. Triumphant over wind, weather and ocean, she slipped over the American coast at 10:10 a.m., at a point six miles north of Cape Charles, and from then on, with journey's end in sight, her silver motors bore her comfortably over the densely-populated coastal plains.
She paid her respects to Washington about 12:20 noon.

It had indeed been a noteworthy voyage, for craft of her type, as her mileage was in the neighborhood of 6,500.

ACROSS FRONTIERS
The Graf Zeppelin lifted her huge self aloft at Friedrichshafen last Sunday morning at 2 o'clock,
Eastern Standard time. Back Switzerland, heard her at 3:33 o'clock that morning, and at 4 a.m.
she crossed the Franco-German frontier. At 7:25 o'clock, New York time, she passed over Lyons, France, and an hour and a half later was above the Mediterranean.

Barcelona, Spain, greeted her at 1:50 p.m. by New York clocks, and last Thursday midnight she hummed over grey Gibraltar.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY
Sunday noon found her eighty miles east by north of Bermuda.

police investigation in Vancouver, who declared he had written anything attention to the many "ifs" in the article concerning the Victoria defective.

hour's consideration, the jury returned to say they could not agree, and were discharged.

HON. W. D. EULER ARRIVES IN CITY

Vancouver by representatives of British Columbia fruitgrowers.
Mr. E. M. Carruthers, president of the Growers' and Shippers' Federation, Mr. E. J. Chamber, president of the Associated Growers of British Columbia, Professor A. F. Burs, representing the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association, and Mr. Thomas Bulman, of Vernon, were the members of the delegation which waited upon the Minister.

The representatives urged that at the next session of Parliament the law should be amended so that foreign produce could not enter Canada, and that Canadian fruit and vegetables to an extent that the growers could not pay for production.

SITUATION DESCRIBED
Facts about the difficulty encountered in marketing British Columbia's 1928 crop were discussed to the Minister. It was claimed that growers were not getting more than 25 per cent of the cost of production this year. It was pointed out that some of the growers had actually given up their farms because it was impossible for them to exist under the circumstances.

At 3:55 p.m. on Sunday she was sighted by the steamer Lafco, coming from St. David's Island. At 6 o'clock Sunday evening she passed Bermuda, flying low. At 11:20 p.m. Sunday she was reported 150 miles west of Bermuda.

Seven o'clock this morning she was reported 100 miles east of Cape Hatteras, and two and three-quarter hours later came the dash:
"Graf Zeppelin sighted off Cape Charles."

THE NEWS IN LONDON
LONDON, Oct. 15.—The greatest delight was expressed by Mrs. Leithbridge, mother of Lady Drummond Hay, sole woman passenger aboard the Graf Zeppelin, when news of the arrival of the huge air liner over the Atlantic was communicated to her. "Oh, how joyful," she exclaimed. "Nobody who has not undergone my experience can measure
my anxiety and relief."

FOURTH DIRIGIBLE FLIGHTS
(By Associated Press)
The R-34 (British) left East Fortune, Scotland, July 2, 1919, and arrived at Roosevelt Field, L.I., July 6, completing a 3,200-mile flight in 108 hours, of which fifty-nine were over the ocean. She left on the return trip on July 17, and arrived at Pulham July 17, seventy-five hours in the air.

The Los Angeles (formerly the ZR-2) left Friedrichshafen October 12, 1924, and arrived at Lakehurst,
N.J., October 15, completing a 5,060-mile journey in eighty-one hours.
The Graf Zeppelin left Friedrichshafen October 11, 1928, and arrived at Lakehurst, N.J., October 15, completing an estimated voyage of 6,500 miles in 111½ hours.

FIRST ATTEMPT RECALLED
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The successful termination today of the transatlantic flight of the Graf Zeppelin was on the eighteenth anniversary of the first attempt to cross the Atlantic by dirigible, which almost ended in a tragedy.

On October 15, 1910, the 28-foot dirigible America started from Lansing City, N.J., with Walter Wellman, of Chicago, in command of a crew of five. Engine trouble caused the crew to abandon the aircraft three days later, when they were rescued by the Royal Mail steamship Trent, about 450 miles east of Cape Hatteras. The dirigible, which was up nearly seventy hours, had covered 1,850 miles in its meanderings
after being blown off its course.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OPENS DRIVE

dents would get behind the chamber more heartily than at the present time.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT
"Conditions never looked brighter, and when we realize the enormous amount of time and work that our directors give to the Chamber of Commerce, we believe the citizens would be pleased to endorse a drive for new members and would be glad of an opportunity of co-operating with the directorate," he said.

Endorsement of the chamber's campaign was given by Mayor Samuel McBride, of Toronto, who visited Victoria several days ago and has issued the following statement on the subject:
"I understand the Victoria Chamber of Commerce is putting on a drive for greater membership. To me this is the proper thing to do for a city like Victoria. No city can grow to be of any importance without the business men co-operating and devoting their time and interest to their city."

"The possibilities as I see them as a stranger in Victoria are wonderful, and there is no reason why Victoria's population cannot be increased 100 per cent within the next year or two by organizations such as the Chamber of Commerce, working with but one object in view—to get industries, manufacturers and merchants."

REASONS FOR SUPPORT
The membership committee submits that the reasons why so many business and professional men support the Victoria Chamber of Commerce include the following:
"For thirty-six years the Chamber of Commerce has been developing the business of the community, which we are now sharing."
"The chamber is an organization for the protection and assistance of our business."

"Domestic, provincial and civic legislation affecting business interests has been carefully watched, and opposed where detrimental results may have ensued."
"Both Summer and Winter tourist travel to Victoria has been considerably increased through Chamber of Commerce persistency, and tourists cannot travel without 'paying as they go.'"

"We are enjoying benefits from the Crystal Gardens, established through years of concentrated chamber activity."

STIMULATE BUSINESS
"The Panama Pacific Grain Terminals, Limited, the British Columbia Worsteds Mills, Limited, the lumber assembly plant, the fish-oil tanks, and the cold storage plant, are all direct evidence of the activity of the Chamber of Commerce, (in co-operation with the Victoria City Council) in developing the Ogden Prospect, and every new establishment not only stimulates business in general, but betters the livelihood of every man, woman and child who recognizes Victoria as their home."

"THIRD" LIQUOR MACHINE
FORFEITED

Rex vs. Cronk Case Is Disposed Of—Montague Simmons Charge Remanded Until Tuesday

The automobile in which Charles Cronk, Victoria taxi driver, had liquor not sealed with the official Government seal on the night of September 27, was declared confiscated yesterday by Magistrate George Jay in the provincial police court. Cronk was convicted in court on September 28 on a charge of having unsealed liquor in his possession.

Film Clouds Teeth

You must remove it

Film, too, is the source of serious tooth and gum disorders. Dentists urge special film-removing dentifrice

THE way your dentist tells you to combat serious tooth and gum disorders is the way screen stars tell you to keep teeth white and gleaming.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel a film. It absorbs stains from food and smoking and turns white teeth dull. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays, germ by germ, the millions breed in it. They,

with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Film must be removed each day. Ordinary brushing fails to do it successfully. So dentists urge the special film-removing dentifrice called Pepsodent.

No other way will make teeth as sparkling white. Write for free 10-day supply to The Pepsodent Co., 191 George St., Toronto 2, Ont., Canada, or ask your drug-gist for full-size tube.

Think twice before you risk teeth with cheap dentifrices. Millions would purchase Pepsodent at any price as the highest scientific safeguard known.

cases of the other two automobiles which had been confiscated in the past fortnight.

"I declare the car forfeited," Magistrate Jay said.

The case of Montague Simmons, charged with keeping intoxicating liquor on premises, the Monte Carlo Inn, where nonintoxicating drinks are sold, was further remanded until next Tuesday, owing to the absence from the city of Corporal W. A. MacBrayne, of the B.C. Provincial Police, who will be called by the Crown as a witness in the hearing. Mr. Stuart Henderson was counsel for the accused.

Sergeant Robert Owens and Corporal Cecil Clark, of the B.C. Provincial Police, told the court of Cronk's arrest, and the finding of four bottles of unsealed liquor in the automobile.

Mr. W. H. Bullock-Webster, who appeared as counsel for parties having a lien interest in the motor car, produced evidence to show that the amount of $1,274.74 was still owing on the automobile.

His honor said he couldn't see any distinction between this car and the

PENSIONERS MEET DR. KING

MINISTER PROMISES EVERY ASSISTANCE TO AID
RECIPIENTS

Association Delegation Seeks Data on Number of Pensions Affecting Disabled Veterans

A delegation from the Canadian Pensioners' Association, Victoria Branch, consisting of Mr. T. Watson, the president, and Mr. A. J. Wilson, secretary, interviewed Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Health and Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, Ottawa, at the Empress Hotel yesterday.

The minister was tendered the thanks and appreciation from the branch, and from widows and dependents, for his personal interest in the many cases that had been submitted to him at Ottawa requiring pensions adjustment and other matters pertaining to the welfare of the disabled.

The minister said in part: "It is the desire of myself and the officials of my department, to co-operate in every possible way with the disabled veterans. It is a task imposed upon me to see that they obtain justice, and that Canada will at all times recognize her obligations to those who have suffered a disability in her defence. The expenditure in regard to pensions of my department proves the truth of this statement. Canada's pension law is more liberal in its application than any country in the world."

MERITORIOUS CASES

Questioned regarding meritorious cases, with a view to compassionate pension, the minister stated that such cases were determined by the circumstances of the family, the record of the ex-soldier concerned, even though he might have died of a disability not related to service. In regard to treatment of pensioners in indigent circumstances, deserving treatment for non-serviceable disabilities, the minister assured the delegation that, as far as possible, the discretion would be left to the local medical officer to decide.

NEW EQUIPMENT NOW BEING PURCHASED WILL SHORTLY BE INSTALLED AND PUT INTO OPERATION. UPON COMPLETION OF THIS NEW INSTALLATION THE EQUIPMENT FROM THE OLD PLANT ON THE LACHINE CANAL WILL BE TRANSFERRED TO THE NEW LOCATION AND WHEN THE ABOVE INSTALLATIONS HAVE BEEN COMPLETED THE DISTILLERY WILL HAVE A CAPACITY OF APPROXIMATELY 10,000 GALLONS PER DAY WITH STORAGE CAPACITY IN EXCESS OF 7,000,000 GALLONS. THIS WILL BE BY FAR THE LARGEST DISTILLERY IN THE PROVINCE OF QUEBEC AND ONE OF THE LARGEST IN THE DOMINION OF CANADA.

It is pointed out that the location of the new distillery on tidewater, combined with the outstanding railway and siding facilities, assures a low cost plant for the company.

Financing to reimburse the company for its outlay in connection with the purchase of the new plant, and also the recently announced acquisition of Canadian Distillers, Limited, together with additions and renovations to the plant, is expected to be announced very shortly.

In connection with the acquisition of the Peter Lyle plant, Mr. Peter Buchert, of Cincinnati, Ohio, president of the Anomala Copper & Iron Works, largest distillery builders in the United States, stated that in his opinion the company could not have obtained a more suitable property.

"It is ideal in every respect," he declared, "and with the many advantages to be derived from deep water transportation facilities, as well as excellent railway and siding facilities, this plant should prove to be one of the lowest cost producing distilleries on the continent."

Not Harry Devlin

TORONTO, Oct. 15.—A special dispatch to The Toronto Globe from Denver, Col., states that the man recovering from injuries at the Pueblo County Jail, is not Harry Devlin, of Toronto, but Russell Wilson, a cousin of Devlin's.

Wilson is reported to have told two men from Toronto who journeyed to Pueblo to see him, that he is in reality Devlin's cousin; that he formerly lived in Newmarket, Ont., and that he was wounded during the war while serving with the Canadian Flying Corps.

Police—"What did the house look like when the burglar had left?"

Lady—"Just like it did when my husband has been looking for something he has lost."

Teaching Under Empire Exchange Plan

AMONG the teachers from the West and from other parts of the British Empire, now teaching in Ontario schools under the Empire exchange plan, are (1) M. W. Brock, Calgary; (2) Edna F. Hallard, Vancouver; (3) Vivian M. Johnston, South Vancouver; (4) Gladys M. Medway, Walthamstow, England; (5) Miss W. Naylor, London, England; (6) Doris E. Bedford, Middlesex, England; (7) Lillian Guttridge, and (8) Doris Westwood, of Walthamstow, England.

The proposal to amalgamate the soldiers' advisers under the Department of Pensions and Health, was opposed by the disabled ex-service men of Victoria. The minister's statement in this regard was to the effect that in some districts soldier advisers were not giving the attention to appeal cases as desired, and under any circumstances, it was not proposed to disturb Mr. G. H. Sedger, the local soldier adviser.

THEIR PERMANENCE

Questioned by Mr. T. Watson regarding permanence of pensions, the minister stated that where a disability was progressive in character, it would not be doing justice to the pensioner if they did not award him pension according to the extent of his disability.

In concluding the interview, the minister desired to assure the delegation of his personal interest in the welfare of the disabled ex-service men, and said wherever he could be of service to them in any capacity, he was always at their disposal.

Dr. King declared Canada had the most liberal pensions in the world, not excepting the United States, and quoted figures to show that the married pensioners in Canada, in all cases, are paid a higher scale than in the United States, and soldiers' widows and orphans are better paid in Canada than in the republic to the south.

"It is the desire of Parliament and every Canadian to do what is just and proper for the returned men and their dependents," the minister said, amid applause.

SERVICE CLUB

The minister congratulated the Gyro Club upon its community service, and said that the re-establishment of our men from overseas, that is probably the greatest service club in Canada," he said.

Dr. King said that in addition to pensions service, eight departmental hospitals are maintained across Canada with an attendance varying from 2,000 to 3,000 patients daily. Working arrangements with foreign countries provided attention for Canadian pensioners in other lands.

In addition to hospital service, 150,000 clinical treatments are annually given to patients while maintaining orthopaedic appliances are given attention by specialists.

VETERAN SHOPS

To meet the needs of men unable to compete in the open labor market, the department subsidizes many veteran shops, at heavy expense. These employ from 300 to 400 men. "Those men are doing useful work, and their minds are better than would be the case if they were drifting around the streets," he pointed out.

The department pays from $75,000 to $100,000 annually to compensation boards, following assumption of the risk in industries employing men of impaired physical condition.

"Ours is a great service department. Our problems are not yet settled, and new problems are confronting us. We have had the finest co-operation of members of the service organizations in Canada, which given support and aid has been most useful," Dr. King concluded.

CONGRATULATES DR. KING

President Trevett said Dr. King was to be congratulated upon the very low administrative cost of his department.

Gyros Aubrey Kent and Johnny Simpson, who have been absent from the club meetings owing to illness, were welcomed back at the luncheon.

Congratulations were received from International President Arthur Smith upon the manner in which Victoria, as host club, staged the annual Pacific Northwest district convention here last month.

CANADA MAKES MOST LIBERAL ALLOWANCE

Department Pays Out $48,000,000 Annually—Administrative Cost New Reduced to 3.3%

"The Department of Pensions pays out $48,000,000 annually, and the only charge is the administrative cost, which is now reduced to 3.3 per cent," the funds handled. Forty million dollars will probably be paid out this year to 70,000 pensioners in Canada, and the balance will be utilized in the hospital and other services," Hon. J. H. King, Federal Minister of Health and Civil Re-establishment, told members of the Victoria Gyro Club yesterday, at their luncheon meeting in the Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. King declared Canada had the most liberal pensions in the world, not excepting the United States, and quoted figures to show that the married pensioners in Canada, in all cases, are paid a higher scale than in the United States, and soldiers' widows and orphans are better paid in Canada than in the republic to the south.

SNOW AND RAIN HALT THRESHERS

Small Percentage of Prairie Crop Remains to Be Threshed—B.C. Apple Crop Proves Large

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 15.—Through good weather a substantial advance toward completion of threshing was made last week, reports the Canadian Pacific Agricultural Department. Latterly weather turned cold, but the advent of snow and rain will aid farmers engaged in fall ploughing who will welcome the moisture, as the soil had become too dry. A relatively small proportion of the crop remains to be threshed. Vegetable and all root crops are safely gathered in, and, on the whole, the yield is bountiful. Corn did not maintain its earlier promise, and generally has not been a very satisfactory crop, as in many cases it was badly frozen before it could be harvested. Stock have all done well, and there will be a considerable movement of cattle this fall.

Wheat threshing in Manitoba is about through, and 90 per cent of the coarse grains.

Ninety-five per cent of wheat has been threshed in Saskatchewan, with 85 to 90 per cent of coarse grains. Because of early frosts, grade and yield have been heavy losers in some localities.

Alberta reports 85 per cent of wheat threshed, and 75 to 80 per cent of other grains. Later maturing grades of wheat affected by frost are disappointing, considerable wheat going 4 and 5.

Apple picking in British Columbia is drawing to a conclusion, with the crop in excess of original estimates.

AFFORESTATION

All forestry experts who take the long view of the question of supply and demand realize that every year the situation respecting the world's forests is becoming more precarious. Within recent years, in most countries, a policy of afforestation has been adopted. The probability is that it has been adopted too late, or, in other words, that by the time the trees planted mature there will be a timber famine, a situation, indeed, which may arise within thirty or forty years. Briefly the matter stands like this: Throughout the world timber is being used or destroyed far more quickly than it is being replaced. Some of those who have given intensive study to the situation maintain that eight times as much timber goes from the forests every year as is replaced by growth.

In British Columbia we have no afforestation policy, except such as is applied by Nature. Here a legend has been perpetuated, and we fear given publicity with dubious results, to the effect that natural growth more than offsets all the timber that vanishes from our forests at the hands of the logger, by fire or through the ravages of pests. At one time, and not so many years ago, the belief was entertained in the Forest Branch of the Department of Lands that the natural growth was five times as great as all depletion. That view has been rapidly modified, but our Forest Branch does not yet appear to have come round to the belief that even in British Columbia, as in the rest of the world, afforestation is a pressing necessity if there is to be a supply of timber created for the uses of posterity.

Every month lost in inaugurating a policy of this kind is a month's gain in the attrition of the supply. It is during the coming winter that a definite afforestation policy should be decided upon for British Columbia to be put into force during the early months of the coming year. In the general programme of the conservation of the natural resources of the province, as proposed by the Conservatives, this question of afforestation is not only essential but imperative. All information exists and is available upon the basis of which a policy of afforestation can be devised. If it is considered wise that motor taxes should be used for trunk roads then there is at least as powerful an argument in the setting aside of some proportion of the forest revenues which the Government enjoys for the purpose of afforestation. That branch of timber conservation is at least as important as fire prevention. The latter hazard has now to be coped with as it arises. Afforestation is a policy which should be permanent and cumulative in its results. There has been too much procrastination in British Columbia on this whole question of conserving the forest resources. The people will undoubtedly look to the present Government to put an end to the habit there has been of dallying with the subject.

AN INDUSTRIAL OPPORTUNITY

British Columbia has thousands upon thousands of acres of land suitable for sheep grazing. There has never, as yet, been any concerted effort to build up the sheep industry of the Province; there is only just a beginning being made to consider such development as an asset in contributing to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway as a paying undertaking. It is within reach of that transportation facility that some of the best sheep land in the province is found, as well as along the route which that railway would follow if built from Prince George into the Peace River country. There is an industry capable of enriching British Columbia by many millions of dollars in annual production if capital is made available and the right sort of settlers provided. With the sheep industry properly launched this province could supply its own wool and mutton needs and gradually build up a growing overseas trade, particularly in wool, with Oriental countries.

Some idea of how rapidly a sheep-raising programme may be developed is found in the case of Australia. That country in 1820 had only 156,000 sheep. In 1880 the number had increased to 23,000,000; by 1870 it was 41,000,000; 78,000,000 in 1880, and 106,000,000 in 1891. The total of sheep in Australia is now maintained at around 100,000,000, which represents what is considered a maximum. That limit has been set because of the periodical droughts that extend from a year to two years, and because also grazing land is periodically ploughed up for wheat-growing. Canada, owing to its wider areas, could support a greater number of sheep than Australia. There are no drought conditions to be confronted in this Dominion. British Columbia alone could comfortably support 10,000,000 sheep, and probably more, but 10,000,000 would mean an immense revenue to the country and put this province in a position to supply much if not all the mutton required for consumption not only here but throughout the prairies and farther afield. At present Canada's sheep flocks do not number more than 3,000,000 head, which gives an indication of the opportunities that exist for building up the industry.

So far as British Columbia is concerned the question is what encouragement the Provincial Government is prepared to give to assist in the development, on a far greater scale than at present, of the sheep industry? Dr. S. F. Tolmie, the Premier, is enthusiastic about the possibilities. His judgment in this respect has been strengthened by the recent tour which he and his Cabinet made over the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. The survey which is to be undertaken regarding the possibilities of the land contiguous to that road, and of a subsidy for the building of a railroad from Prince George to the Peace River district, will afford an estimate of the area suitable for sheep grazing. On the basis of that estimate, and in conjunction with a land settlement policy, there ought to be a programme of cumulative development inaugurated in the sheep industry. It is an opportunity rich with promise, certain of lucrative returns, provided the best skill is employed and the right breeds introduced. The building up of the sheep industry alone would be an immense factor in making the Pacific Great Eastern an asset to British Columbia. It would become a still greater asset if, hand in hand with sheep raising, the dairying industry were developed as in New Zealand. Canada last year imported 10,000,000 pounds of butter from New Zealand, every ounce of which could have been manufactured at home. In British Columbia the agricultural industry as a whole has been regarded as of somewhat secondary importance in the past. It has a future which, in monetary returns, will in all likelihood exceed that of either lumbering or mining. One of the most important factors in its growth will be the development of the sheep industry.

MOTOR TRAFFIC PROBLEM

The Province of Quebec is beginning to deal somewhat drastically with the dangers of the traffic problem. In a period of ten days there recently 125 motor car licences were cancelled because of infractions of the law. Of all the offenders 98 per cent were charged with speeding, and, as in the vast majority of such cases, those charged were not rushing upon their lawful occasions but were on pleasure bent. In Quebec, as everywhere, the death list of traffic has been steadily growing through careless and reckless driving. In this traffic problem there seem to be two major points to be remembered, namely, that the rights of pedestrians must be respected and that the rights of others using the roads must also be respected by careless drivers. The fact is that if such respect were shown careless driving would be impossible, unless in such cases as where the licencees are not qualified to drive carefully. In the United States the propaganda of "safety first" precautions has been intensified more than in any other country, yet there the proportion of fatalities due to traffic is increasing faster than elsewhere. Obviously then something more than propaganda is required. Quebec is rigidly imposing the penalties which should attend motor accidents where fault can be assigned. Prevention may be better than cure, but the panacea for motor fatalities does not seem to lie in preventive propaganda.

According to the British Registrar-General's Statistical Review of 1927 the populations of Scotland, Northern Ireland and the Irish Free State show decreases. Scotland, credited with a population of 4,897,000 in 1926, is given as 4,892,000 in 1927; Northern Ireland, 1,234,000 in 1926 was 1,233,000 in 1927, and the Irish Free State, which was 2,970,000 in 1926, was 2,958,000 in 1927. In England and Wales the increase during the year was from 39,067,000 to 39,290,000. In 1927 numbered 654,172 equal to a rate of 16.6 per 1,000 of population. This is the lowest rate ever recorded, and 1.1 per cent lower than during 1918, the last year of the war.

REVELLE

Wake: the silver disk returning
Up the beach of darkness brims,
And the ship of sunrise burning Stands upon the eastern rims.

Wake: the vaulted shadow shatters,
Trampled by the floor is spanned,
And the tent of night in tatters
Screws the sky-pavilioned land.

Up, lad, up, 'tis late for lying Hear the drums of morning play:
Hark, the empty highways crying
"Who'll beyond the hills away?"

Towns and countries woo together,
Porcelain beacons, befriends call,
Never had that trod on leather
Lived to feast his heart with all.

Up, lad, hews that he and summer
Sunlit pallets never thrive,
Morns abed and daylight slumber
Were not meant for man alive.

Clay lies still, but blood's a rover:
Breath's a ware that will not keep Up, lad, when the journey's over There'll be time to sleep.

Note and Comment

By R. H. D.

"How deep is the snowfall in Victoria?" The question was asked by a former Governor of the State of California, who was a visitor to the city last week. For a moment we did not know what to say in reply, for the former Governor is President of the California Press Association as well as one of the political leaders of the state, and might have been expected to know something definite about the climatic conditions on this part of the Pacific Coast.

When told that the snowfall in Victoria is almost as negligible as the snowfall in the city of San Francisco his features plainly expressed feelings of incredulity. If he knew very much about the meteorology of Victoria and Vancouver Island, he knew a great deal about the winter weather in Portland and the State of Oregon, where the snowfall is sometimes deep. Victoria is about seven hundred miles north of San Francisco, and the farther north you go the heavier the snowfall. We could see Mr. Richardson was pondering that matter in his mind and could not reconcile our statement with the conditions which infallibly governed the state of the weather.

If we had told him that as a rule we had no snow at all during the winter but that, occasionally, we had a slight flurry, and that when we desired to feast our eyes upon "the beautiful" we had to be content to go out to Beacon Hill and gaze upon the snowfall mountains in the neighboring State of Washington, we do not know what thoughts of our veracity he might have carried back with him to San Francisco.

A few weeks ago we had the pleasure of talking with a young man, formerly a Victorian, who for several years has been residing in Los Angeles. The discourse took place before a fire of wood in the parlour—the first fire of the season. The weather really was not cold enough to necessitate kindling a fire, but blazing wood makes a room cozy and cheerful and stimulates conversation. The visitor said it was indeed a pleasant thing to sit before a fire one could see and whose heat could be felt. We asked him what kind of fires they had in the homes of Los Angeles. He said they had no homes. They lived in apartments and had motor cars. They had no fires because they had no fuel. They cooked with gas and electricity. They slept in their apartments and ate at restaurants.

Of course all the people in sunny Southern California do not merely sleep in apartments and own motor cars. There are many beautiful homes down there in which the traditions of family life are maintained and in which the home fires are kept burning; but such luxuries are beyond the capacity of the resources of the masses of the people. The majority of the people are hived in apartments, and apartments are increasing in popularity in all growing cities in Canada as well as in the United States. Vancouver is fast becoming a city of apartments. Victorians are acquiring the apartment habit, for living in apartments fits with all modern conveniences lessens labor and abolishes drudgery. Probably if we were beginning life over again we would set up our establishment in apartments; but we should have to begin life as a child in apartments.

As a friend once said in justification for living in a big house, "I like spaciousness." It is nice to feel that you are not cramped in your surroundings. And it is indeed a pleasant thing to see so many comparatively small houses being constructed in Victoria and all around it. It is a more pleasant thing to own at least a bit of ground and to plant a few trees, shrubs, flowers and potatoes in it. Fruits and vegetables are like fish, they taste better when they are fresh out of the tree, out of the earth or out of the water. Man feels more like a lord when he surveys works of his own hands and can say all these things are of my own creation. So let the work of apartment building go on; but may the construction of lowly houses keep pace with the stately procession.

Reverting again to the weather, which is a timely subject of discourse now that all the championships have been fought for and won and the sun is losing some of his Summer heat and splendor, did you notice that the winter has set in in this continent? A snow has fallen upon the great plains of both Canada and the United States, and in some of those places will remain on the ground until spring arrives as suddenly as winter appeared. With the first announcement of the advent of snow in distant parts the weather prophet appeared here and issued his annual prediction. He says we are going to have a long and severe winter. He bases his statement on signs that never fail, the actions and the clothing of the creatures of the wilds. The deer have come down early from the hills and the beasts that prey upon the deer have put on exceptionally heavy winter coats. But the weather prophet is absolutely without honor in this part of the world. The deer, if they have come down from the hills, have come down because they were chased down by the animals with winter coats which prey upon them. So while we may talk about the weather when there is nothing else of interest to talk about, we are not going to worry about it, for the state of the weather elsewhere is no indication whatever of the kind of weather we shall have here. We are neither a prophet nor the son of a prophet, but we predict that the winter in Victoria, if it arrives at all, will be just about as usual.

THE EVOLUTION OF MORALS

Sir—Mr. Averill, in his letter of today's date, attributes to me words I did not use and an opinion I do not hold. Realizing the necessity for accurate expression, I made a careful written note of what I wished to say on the point and memorized it. I should be pleased to produce the same to your correspondent at any time. What I actually said was as follows: After showing the "practical" worthlessness of a love of peace and good will derived either directly through acceptance of authority or through emotional assent to propositions emotionally propounded, I continued: "The explanation is to be found in a study of the normal results of guiding conduct by emotional appeals rather than by critical reflection. Emotions so evolved are of the surface, and are as easily as they are in-duced, by stronger emotions proper to the animal nature. So those who call most excitedly for peace when there is no war, are often found amongst those most excited by the war passion as soon as the contagion strikes."

And the instances I proceeded to give were all from times antedating the formation of the League of Nations. My words, in fact, had no reference to the work of the League of Nations. I have yet to learn that the League's "creeds" are "On the contrary it proceeds on the method I upheld, not the one I criticized. It contends that reason shows that war is not only a recourse to savagery, legalized murder, in fact, but is disastrous to the combatants and a menace to society and to civilization. It is functioning to be guided by "critical reflection," not by passion, to condemn war as a social nuisance and to take practical steps for its abolition."

I instance the success of such methods of critical reflection in the results that the public condemnation of heavy drinking as a social nuisance had produced in England, and in general sobriety and freedom from crime, results that ignorant and intolerant persecution had failed to achieve in America, wholly failed to achieve in America. Reason not only condemns the suffering and destruction caused by war, but, by proving our kinship with the living things and cruelty to animals also. From first to last my contention was that our "goal" will only be reached when all men look to reason for the attainment of righteousness and when our moral-ity has its roots in human affection and the desire to do good; not in the desire for reward, but in the uplifting of the race and the happiness of generations as yet unborn. I may add that I have listened to several members of my audience who agree that I did not use the words your correspondent puts in my mouth.

Subject to the above correction, I am in entire agreement with your correspondent's views and, in fact, a whole-hearted supporter of the efforts of the League of Nations to abolish war.

A. B. SANDERS.

Jots From Science

MARCONI, a young Italian inventor, sat in an old bar-rooms room at St. John's, New Brunswick, in December, 1901, and listened to the first wireless telegraph message to cross the sea. For a decade he had been experimenting with electrical waves in the ether and finally produced a transmitting set that would enable a man to talk by radio across oceans, before he was thirty years old. The invention of the wireless telegraph is regarded as one of the marvels of modern science and countless honours have been showered on Marconi.

MR. W. C. SHELLY STATES POLICY

TAXATION TO BE STABILIZED FOR ENCOURAGEMENT OF INVESTMENT

Rigid Economy—To Enable Improved Public Service While Cutting Expenditure

VANCOUVER, Oct. 15.—Rigid economy, increased efficiency and a determined effort to collect arrears of taxation were promised by Hon. W. C. Shelly, Minister of Finance, in addressing the Conservative banquet guests on Saturday night. The minister went farther and pledged himself to resign his portfolio if he could not in his second budget speech announce a surplus.

The pronouncement of the financial policy came as a complete surprise to the hundreds assembled at the gathering, who looked for an address in a higher vein. The minister, however, came prepared for serious discussion, and when called upon to respond to the toast in honor of himself and colleagues plunged at once into his subject.

TO STABILIZE TAXATION

"It is our purpose to stabilize taxation," he said, "so that investors will know what is expected from them, and they will have that confidence that comes with the knowledge of an assured policy that will not be changed overnight."

Continuing, he pointed out the necessity for continuity in the taxation methods of the province. The province is rich in natural resources and it requires capital to develop them.

Capital would come if taxation is put on a stable basis, said the minister, thus permitting plans to be formulated for systematic development of industry.

"This time next year," declared Hon. Mr. Shelly, "the Government hopes to have a surplus and not a deficit. If I can not in my second budget show a surplus, I am going back to my barking."

TO REDUCE EXPENDITURE

Continuing, he said that it is the aim of the Government to replace deficits with surpluses, and to do this there must be a reduction in expenditures. This, he believed, could be done, and at the same time there could be an increase of 25 per cent in Governmental services.

Adhering to this idea, added the minister, the expenditures upon public undertakings would depend upon collection. Hundreds of persons in British Columbia, he had been surprised to learn, were far in arrears some for many years, in their payments to the treasury. This, he said, was manifestly unfair to those citizens who paid their indebtedness.

"We are going to insist upon the payment of those arrears," concluded Hon. Mr. Shelly, "and we are going to endeavor to fearlessly follow this policy of collections."

TRAFALGAR DAY SUNDAY, OCT. 21

Anniversary of Nelson's Victory to Be Celebrated in City of Victoria

Sunday, October 21, being anniversary of the Battle of Trafalgar, it is the intention of Victoria branch of the Navy League of Canada, in conjunction with the naval authorities at Esquimalt, to celebrate the occasion in a fitting manner by hoisting Lord Nelson's famous signal at the flagstaff in front of the Parliament Buildings at 10 a.m.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor has expressed his willingness to be present and to speak a few words appropriate to the occasion. Hon. S. P. Tolmie, Premier of British Columbia, and His Worship the Mayor of Victoria will also attend.

Representatives of ex-service organizations, together with contingents of Girl Guides and, as usual, the ladies of the I.O.D.E. are expected to be present.

With the object of making this ceremony as impressive as in former years, the citizens of Victoria and district will, it is hoped, show their appreciation of Nelson's victory and what it meant to the British Empire.

PARTY IS HOME FROM CONVENTION

Blue Line Sightseeing Company Directors Attend Gathering at Boston

Mr. H. L. Sangster and a party of the directors of the Blue Line Taxi Company, which operates the Royal Blue Line Sightseeing Company in Victoria, have just returned from attending the Royal Blue Line convention at Boston.

The party left Victoria on September 9 and returned on Sunday, having visited fifty cities in which the Blue Line operates. The Eastern directors are well pleased with the operations of the Victoria branch, and are now building several new palatial coaches for sightseeing purposes for Victoria and Vancouver. In Quebec the party was greatly interested by the presence of numerous horse-drawn trolleybuses, which are still evidently a popular item in the sightseeing business in that quarter of the world. The Royal Blue Line itself still uses a horse-drawn sightseeing bus with which to scale Mount Royal, on account of the grade.

The route taken lay along the Oregon Trail as far as Salt Lake City, thence to Chicago and Detroit by the Lincoln Highway. Then to Quebec and on to Boston and New York, returning by Philadelphia, Washington, D.C. and through Pittsburgh and St. Louis to Denver. The trip from Denver through the Rockies was a revelation of scenic wonders and was greatly enjoyed. At an elevation of 11,000 feet snow was encountered, and but for that experience the weather conditions were perfect during the whole trip. In the high altitude owing to the rarity of the air, the car used,

SETTLEMENT ON PLAYGROUNDS ACCOMPLISHED

Hudson's Bay Company Agrees to Exchange of Land for Purpose at Esquimalt

GARBAGE NUISANCE ON BEACH REPORTED

"We have got some beautiful building lots in Esquimalt, and we are pretty well giving them away," stated Councillor Pomeroy at a meeting of the Esquimalt Council last evening. He went on to say that the council was selling lots at the present moment for the equivalent of three years' taxes, and pointed out that this was discouraging to the owners of adjacent lots.

A letter was read from Mr. E. H. Wilson, manager of the land department of the Hudson's Bay Company, written in reference to the proposed exchange of lots owned by the Esquimalt Municipality for land now in possession of the Hudson's Bay Company. Councillor W. J. Cox, seconded by Councillor C. H. Smith, moved that the exchange be effected in accordance with Mr. Wilson's letter.

Mr. Pomeroy wanted to know whether it would be any good doing this before the council members had satisfied themselves that the Playing Fields' Association, for whose benefit the exchange was contemplated, would reach its ultimate objective. Reeve James Elrick pointed out that some of the public park or playground would be needed in the future in any case. Mr. Cox said that now the matter of the exchange was cut and dried, he felt sure that the association would be quite ready to meet the council in the matter of Lots 14A and 15, and his motion was then carried unanimously.

Councillor Cox moved that the lots in question be offered to the Playing Fields' Association at the upset price paid for the others by the Hudson's Bay Company. In connection with this aspect of the matter, Clerk Pullen read a letter from the association stating that its executive would like to meet a committee appointed by the council with a view to the lease or rent, with option of purchase of these lots. The reeve said that the council was prepared to meet the association on this matter. As the organization had a great deal of money at the present time, he thought that they would want all they had got to clear the property.

Councillor Hadfield said that the figure before the council was considerably lower than the association had anticipated. He said that he might prefer to buy in consequence. It was finally decided that a committee should be appointed to meet with the association, and that they be empowered to make known the wishes of the council regarding the disposal of the property. The committee should be composed of Mr. Pomeroy, Mr. Elrick, Mr. W. R. K.C., of Fernie, and School Inspector V. G. Manning, of the district.

A short time ago Paddy Burns, going to America was confronted by a Yankee. "Why begorra," says Pat. "Ye have a fine country out here." "Oh, yes," replied the American. "We have a man here who can climb a pole fifty feet high and when he gets up all on top of it." "Why begorra," says Paddy, "that's nothing. We have a man in old Ireland who can climb a pole one hundred and fifty feet high and when he goes to the top of it he pulls it up after him."

CITY GARBAGE

Mr. F. V. Copeman had written to the dumping board of the city garbage from scows in the straits was causing much offence on Fleming's Beach, where all kinds of refuse was being washed ashore.

Councillor Hadfield endorsed Mr. Copeman's communication. The beach had become an eyesore, he said, and was, moreover, exceedingly unhealthy. Councillor Cox moved that the City Council be notified of the offence and asked to take garbage further out to sea, and the motion was carried.

FIRE HOSE

A report by the chief of police stated that the municipality owned one thousand feet of fire hose in good condition, and recommended that five hundred additional feet should be purchased. The reeve said that he had information that the price of rubber might be expected to come down. A difference of ten cents a foot, he remarked, might be multiplied by five hundred, might justify the council in hesitating to buy a large quantity of hose at present.

JUNO STREET

Councillor Pomeroy called attention to the unsatisfactory state of the road surface on Juno Street, at the same time remarking that the householders of that locality had been very uncomplaining in comparison with the state of the street. The municipal engineer, on being interrogated on the subject, said that his estimate for repairs to this street, which he considered in very bad shape, amounted to $750. It was decided to go forward with the work immediately, in consequence of the facts.

CARS PLUNGE INTO RIVER, FOUR INJURED

Three Victorians and Resident of Blainey Narrowly Escape Death by Drowning Near Ladysmith

DIVE FOLLOW'S CRASH ON BRIDGE

Four people were injured Sunday morning when a car driven south on the Island Highway by Barton Alexander, of Victoria, got out of control on the treacherous Stewart Hill, at the foot of which is a bridge over the Ladysmith River, and crashed into a light delivery truck, also driven south, by Andrew Orr, of Blainey. Both cars plunging into the river forty feet below.

Those injured are: William Holness, 712 Caledonia Avenue, an occupant of Alexander's car, who received cuts about the face and head and severe bruises; Barton Alexander, Yates Street, broken nose and bad bruises; David Jones, 2703 Douglas Street, also an occupant of the Alexander car, cuts, bruises and other slight injuries; and Andrew Orr, of Blainey, fractured ribs and cuts about the face and head.

Constable Thomas Byatt, of the Provincial Police at Ladysmith, reported that both cars were completely wrecked by the fall into the river, and that the occupants of both cars narrowly escaped death by drowning. Andrew Orr, although suffering painful injuries, after freeing himself from his own car, swam to that of Barton Alexander's and helped extricate the occupants.

It appears that the board now has power to rule on matters that are prohibited in the Zoning By-Law. Mr. Fringe, explaining this, said that a building that was permitted in one zone but prohibited in another, and for which an application had been made from the restricted zone could not be considered by the Board of Appeal. Only matters pertaining to the size of yards, space and other such matters pertaining to measurements could be considered by the board. The Zoning By-Law by keeping within the spirit of the law.

POWER OF ZONING BOARD UNSETTLED

Town Planning Committee Will Now Endeavor to Clear Cloud Hovering Over Board

Despite another letter from Elliott, Maclean & Shandley, counsel for the city, outlining the powers of the Zoning Board of Appeal, under the Town Planning Act, the powers of that board still remain in dispute. The City Council, after hearing the contents of the letter from the committee for revision.

It appears that the board now has power to rule on matters that are prohibited in the Zoning By-Law. Mr. Fringe, explaining this, said that a building that was permitted in one zone but prohibited in another, and for which an application had been made from the restricted zone could not be considered by the Board of Appeal. ## VICTIM OF TRAGEDY

Unusual Incident Cost Life of Mrs. Rosina O'Brien at Entrance Island

Mr. O'Brien, who is in the city for the funeral, explains that when his wife fell off a rock, where she had stepped from the boat, she slipped under the boat as it overturned, becoming entangled in the sea. He also was thrown out, and swam round for some time thinking his wife had been carried offshore. When help arrived, the body was discovered entangled in the upturned boat.

NEW STUDIO OF C.F.C.T. OPENED

LENGTHY PROGRAMME BROADCAST FROM NEW QUARTERS OF LOCAL STATION

Seven-Hour Entertainment Greatly Enjoyed by Unseen Audiences—Congratulations Received

Following the policy of keeping abreast of all the latest developments in radio broadcasting, the local station, C.F.C.T., officially opened its spacious new studio on the roof of the Union Building last evening at 6 o'clock by presenting an interesting scene and a specially arranged programme.

The new studio consists of three rooms, much larger than the old quarters, a reception room, an office, and the studio room.

The "house-warming" presentation commenced at 6 o'clock and continued until 1 o'clock this morning. During that time numerous artists performed before the microphone, providing entertainment for countless radio listeners.

The usual stock quotations opened the programme, followed at 6:20 by the Sunset Concert Orchestra, which rendered an hour of delightful music. At 7:30 o'clock the usual announcements were made and from 7:30 to 8 o'clock a programme of string music was offered by Mrs. Sullivan Atfield, assisted by some of her pupils. For the next hour, a variety programme was on the air, in which Mrs. Edward Parsons, soprano; Agnes Hoff, contralto; Cecil Biagg, tenor; "Bob" and Nora Sherwood, pianists, took part. From 9 to 10 o'clock the Bucklin trio played for radio listeners a programme of instrumental music, assisted by Mrs. Bertram Mayell, soprano soloist. The trio presented the Adagio from the Suite by Schubert, Toselli's "Serenade," played as cello solo, and "Slavonic Dance" by Dvorak.

During the hour from 10 to 11 o'clock dramatic play by Sir James M. Barrie was presented by Rev. Dr. Clem Davies.

Maude Weatherworth, from Toronto, thrilled the enthusiasts with her playing on the golden harp. Shortly after 11 o'clock The Coldest organ recital was broadcast direct from the Capitol Theatre, with Paul Michelin at the organ, assisted by Edith Todd. From midnight until one o'clock this morning popular dance music held sway, with a special eight-piece orchestra rendering the latest of syncopation.

Five minutes later, one of the greatest programmes ever put on by the local station officials was brought to a termination when Cliff Deaville, the youthful announcer, said "Good-night."

B.C. DRINKS MUCH COCOA

RECORDS SHOW PER CAPITA CONSUMPTION IS HEAVIEST IN THIS PROVINCE

School Educations' Work to Be Initiated to Show How Product Should Be Prepared

The people of British Columbia drink more cocoa per capita than any other province in Canada.

In making this statement, Mr. E. J. Greenway, director of J. S. Fry &amp; Sons (Canada) Limited, cocoa and chocolate manufacturers, who were in the city yesterday, told The Colonist that there was an improvement in the ways of making cocoa in Canada, to get the best results out of the process, but the care was not given to the brewing of the product which prevailed in Europe.

The management had decided on an educational campaign, and was preparing literature for use in the schools, as it was felt that in the domestic science classes much valuable instruction could be given to young girls which would have reflection eventually in the homes of the people.

It was rather a remarkable thing that in the colder provinces more cocoa was not used. Greenway said the product, which was manufactured in Montreal for the Canadian trade, the bulk of the beans being imported from West Africa, principally from the Gold Coast, was being more appreciated than formerly.

The affiliated companies (Fry's and Cadbury's) had also a confectionery business in Canada, but in those lines they were faced with considerable competition from Canadian firms, the standard of confectionery in this country being unusually high. Government regulations being strict, from which the public got the full benefit.

Mr. Greenway says the prospects for the winter business in cocoa and confectionery are good.

COMPANY RECEIVES ELEVATOR REQUEST

Deputation Asks for Cut in Cost of Power at Ogden Point Elevator

The B.C. Electric Railway Company will consider a request of the rate charged for power to the grain elevator at Ogden Point, Mr. A. T. Goward, vice-president, told a deputation from the elevator company yesterday.

The deputation, which included the chairman of the board, the president of the company and the general manager, was received by Mr. Goward and Mr. J. A. Moore, president, submitted the case for the elevator company, it explained that a service which would cost $1,000 per month in Vancouver would under the present arrangement entail an outlay per month of $1,800 for power here. Revision of the rate was accordingly sought.

Negotiations in the larger question of all industrial power will proceed, it was stated at the company offices yesterday, and meanwhile, as soon as the weather is settled for a journey, the company is the intention of the vice-president to take a party to Jordan River to show the progress on the flume, and on the other hand, to house at the main diversion reservoir dam.

SOCIAL HYGIENE

Knights of Round Table Hear Dr. Murray G. Jackson, of Social Hygiene Council

The weekly dinner of the Royal Knights of the Round Table will be held last night in the private dining room of the Empress Hotel, and was attended by a large number of members, with Dr. D. W. Graham in the chair.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. Murray G. Jackson, a graduate of Toronto University, and representative for British Columbia, and member of the Canadian Social Hygiene Council. Dr. Jackson, at the close of his talk, which was on "Social Hygiene," informed the members that the council, which was originally formed by the Dominion Department of Health to organize an endeavor for the control of venereal diseases, had now broadened its efforts to include the general health of the nation and preventive medicine. The council was supported largely by the Dominion Government, aided by grants from Provincial Governments, insurance companies and individuals. Dr. Jackson stated that he was now organizing a league of health in Vancouver Island, in an effort to interest the public itself in the matter.

STATE'S DUTY TO HEALTH

A famous British Premier, said Dr. Jackson, "stated that the first duty of a statesman was the preservation of the health of the nation. Experts now calculate that 50 per cent of all illness falls under the category of preventable diseases. It is estimated that in Canada, at all times, at least 180,000 adults are incapacitated for work through illness. This results in loss of wages and reduction of output. During a year illness in Canada results in the loss of twenty-one million working days. The annual upkeep of our hospitals is $50,000,000."

HIGHER IDEALS NEEDED

The lecturer divided these illnesses into two categories. The first category in which immunity plays a part included typhoid fever, smallpox, diphtheria and scarlet fever. Immunity was built up naturally by some individuals, or acquired after an attack of the disease, and science had discovered and was applying artificial immunity to these diseases with success.

In the second category, venereal diseases, no immunity could be secured. Dr. Jackson gave figures to show an alarming increase in these diseases, especially among adolescents. The Dominion and Provincial Governments shared in the cost of free clinics for the treatment of these diseases, but Dr. Jackson severely asserted that if Canada was to realize its high aspirations this subject must receive serious consideration by parents. "Education must begin in the home," said

Short Story, Play and Christmas Card Contests Conducted by Daughters of Empire

The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire have issued the following rules in connection with the 100 prize competition for the Christmas card design, which closes on November 15:

1. This competition is open to all British subjects resident in Canada, whether students in art schools or not.

2. The design submitted shall be an original sketch in colors (size about eight and one-half inches by eleven and a half inches) suitable for reproduction in one single color, all other colors to be hand colored. A sample of such reproduction may be had by intending competitors, gratis, on application to head office, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, 238 Bloor Street East, Toronto 5.

3. The subject for this year's competition is a Canadian Winter outdoor scene.

4. A competitor may submit more than one design, but each entry should be sent in separately.

5. Entries should be marked "Christmas Card Competition," and should be sent to the National Educational Secretary, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, 238 Bloor Street East, Toronto 5, Ontario, on or before November 15, 1928. Each design submitted shall be marked with an assumed name and should be accompanied by a sealed envelope containing both the real and the assumed names of the designer.

6. The prize-winning design shall become the property of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire. Arrangements will be made to have the card published and sold.

7. The prize, at the discretion of the judges, may be divided between two competitors. The prize will not necessarily be awarded if, in the estimation of the judges, no entry merits the award.

8. No entry shall be returned unless it is accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope suitable for return of sketch.

SHORT STORY CONTENT

A prize of $200, given by Mrs. R. W. Wood, of Vancouver, British Columbia, is offered by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire for a short story. The following conditions govern the competition:

1. Any story submitted must contain not less than 2,000 words and not more than 6,000.

2. While other subjects are not debarred, stories dealing with Canadian life are preferred. This does not mean more preliminary reference to a Canadian background. The particular Canadian setting chosen must be vital to the treatment of the subject. Preference is given to wholesome treatment and subject matter. Literary merit will be considered as well as action and interest.

3. Competitors must be British subjects resident in Canada.

4. There will be three judges, two chosen by the Canadian Authors' Association and one from the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

5. No story submitted in this competition shall have been published previously, nor shall it be submitted elsewhere until the result of this competition is announced.

6. The prize shall not be awarded twice to the same person, nor shall the prize for the short story and the prize for the one-act play be awarded to the same person in any one year. The prize will not necessarily be awarded if no entry reaches a sufficiently high standard in the estimation of the judges.

7. The story awarded the prize shall be published in Echoes and the copyright shall be vested in the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

8. No manuscripts shall be returned, but the writer may retain the first and best typewritten copy for his or her own use and submit a carbon copy, provided it is legible.

9. The titles of the stories which receive honorable mention, with the names of the authors, shall be published in the June issue of Echoes, and later issues of Echoes if the writer and the Echoes committee so desire.

10. Manuscripts, which may be in English or French, shall be sent by registered post to the National Educational Secretary, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, 238 Bloor Street East, Toronto 5, Ontario, not later than February 1, 1929. The results will be announced early in April.

1. The play shall be a one-act play, the presentation of which on the stage should occupy not less than twenty minutes and not more than forty minutes.

2. The play shall neither have been published nor have been presented on the stage before being submitted to this competition, and it shall not be submitted elsewhere until the result of this competition is announced.

3. The subject for this year's competition is a Canadian Winter outdoor scene.

4. A competitor may submit more than one design, but each entry should be sent in separately.

5. Entries should be marked "Christmas Card Competition," and should be sent to the National Educational Secretary, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, 238 Bloor Street East, Toronto 5, Ontario, on or before November 15, 1928. Each design submitted shall be marked with an assumed name and should be accompanied by a sealed envelope containing both the real and the assumed names of the designer.

6. The prize-winning design shall become the property of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire. Arrangements will be made to have the card published and sold.

7. The prize, at the discretion of the judges, may be divided between two competitors. The prize will not necessarily be awarded if, in the estimation of the judges, no entry merits the award.

8. No entry shall be returned unless it is accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope suitable for return of sketch.

"Just 'ad a fight with the Missus," he explained.

"Liquor?"

"No—she licked me, as usual!"

City &amp; District

Contract Awarded—The Acme Press was awarded the contract by the City Council last night for the printing of the voters' list. The bid of that firm was $425 a page.

Court of Revision—The last meeting of the Court of Revision on assessments will be held in the City Council chamber at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. It was announced yesterday by Mr. George Okell, city assessor.

Mayor Absent—Owing to having been called as a witness in a libel suit in Vancouver, Mayor J. Carl Penderay was unable to preside over last night's meeting of the City Council. Alderman Percy R. Brown was elected by the council to officiate as acting mayor.

Improvements—With the deposit of a cheque for $200 from the Crystal Garden as its share of the cost of work asked for, the City Council last night decided to improve Belleville Street and put down a concrete sidewalk on that section of the street, which runs between Douglas and Blanshard.

To Hear Representations—On Wednesday of this week, Premier Tolmie will hear the arguments of the residents of Wards Five, Six, and part of Four, Saanich, who are advocating the separation from the Municipality of Saanich. The Premier promises them a fair hearing, declaring that he will hear all sides to this controversy.

City Census—City Comptroller D. A. MacDonald advised the City Council last night that a census of the population of Victoria was not necessary. There were only two grants made by the Provincial Government based on the city's population and the cost of taking a census would not be made up by the slight increase the city might obtain from the government grants.

Arts and Crafts Exhibition—The receiving committee of the Island Arts and Crafts Society Exhibition will be in attendance at the Belmont Building on Wednesday afternoon from 1:30 to 5:30 o'clock, to receive paintings, crafts and other exhibits for the annual exhibition. Intending exhibitors are reminded that tomorrow will be the final day for receiving articles for the exhibition.

Visit Campbell River—The promised visit of members of the Government to Campbell River for an inspection of the river there was made yesterday. Premier Tolmie, accompanied by Hon. N. S. Loughhead, Hon. S. L. Howe, Hon. P. P. Burden, Kinison and Hon. R. L. Maitland, made the trip, mooring from Nanaimo on Sunday evening and returning to the capital late yesterday afternoon.

Called to Bar—Mr. E. E. Wasson, of 5, was admitted to the roll of solicitors and called to the bar of British Columbia yesterday in a brief ceremony before Mr. Justice Giesbrecht in the Supreme court here. The candidate was presented by Mr. W. C. Moreby, K.C., past president of the Victoria Bar Association. His father, Mr. E. E. Wasson, has long been a taxpayer, to reclaim some of the property.

Reverted Land—Land assessed at $40,000 and owned by one person, copyright shall be vested in the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire. An effort is being made to get the land at a cost of $3,000. On the five parcels of land there are charges amounting to $9,400. The city land commission advised the council at its meeting last night against the sale of the property, owing to creating a dangerous precedent as there were other parcels of land who are in the same position. The matter was referred to the land committee again with the suggestion that other terms be arranged which would not create a precedent and at the same time make it possible for the owner, who has long been a taxpayer, to reclaim some of the property.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who receives from twenty to thirty beggar letters a day, said at a dinner in New York.

The man who begs for money asks to be pauperized. But pauperization won't help him. If he thinks it will, he is as foolish as the man on the croquet field who says, "On a terribly crowded street car a man was hanging by a strap. You could see he wasn't used to hanging. He swung to and fro, and he'd certainly have gone down if there had been any room for that sort of thing."

"Pare, mister," said the conductor, passing through; and then the man's vain efforts to reach an inside pocket. "Can I help you?"

"Yes, you can," said the man gratefully. "Just hold on to this strap while I get my wallet out."

WHY ARE CIVILIZED RACES DISEASED?

Silly question? No, for savages are not diseased. Neither are the Carthusian monks of Surrey, England, the natives of Hunza, in India, or of Northern Nigeria, in Africa.

Dr. Robert G. Jackson in his book, "HOW TO BE ALWAYS WELL," tells why the same wrong living habits that caused him to almost die at fifty, when the great Sir Wm. Osler said he'd die inside four months.

Foods ought to be alkali-formers, but civilization's foods are acid-formers, and acid-forming foods cause disease.

To avoid death, Dr. Jackson lived for two whole years upon alkali-forming Roman Meal (in which is 25 per cent flaxin, possessing unique food properties) which time after time he ate. He was entirely well. Write for new uncooked Roman Meal recipe and a copy of his free booklet, "HOW TO KEEP WELL," to Dr. Robert G. Jackson, 315 Vine Avenue, Toronto (9), Ontario.

Magnesia Best For Gassy Stomach

Bisurated Magnesia Promptly Ends Gas, Sourness and Acid Indigestion

If everything you eat turns to gas and your stomach is a constant ferment of acid, indigestion, flatulence, etc., taking a little pure Bisurated Magnesia after meals for a while and get the immediate relief from stomach trouble this simple prescription unfailingly cures.

It is a serious mistake to seek relief from indigestion or a gassy stomach by the use of laxatives, which do not reach the cause, which, nine times in ten, is simply "too much acid" in the stomach. Bisurated Magnesia, a natural alkali, absorbs or neutralizes this acid, sweetens and cleans up the stomach, and out gas and stool, and leaves the stomach clean, fresh and nature intended without a particle of trouble.

Reliable druggists everywhere supply the sensitive Bisurated Magnesia in both powder and tablet in sealed packages. Do not confuse with ordinary citrate, milk or lump magnesia. Be sure to get Bisurated, which is not a laxative, and is especially prepared for stomach trouble.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

WHOOPIING COUGH
Whooping cough, one of the most serious diseases of childhood, is generally conveyed by direct contact from one child to another, usually in the form of epidemics, although there are sometimes isolated cases. Infants and children up to the age of ten years are most frequently attacked, but this disease may occur in adults, even in the very aged. In the latter case the disease is quite serious.

Any persistent cough, even without the characteristic whoop, should arouse suspicion, and the child should be kept apart from others because this disease has a very high percentage of fatalities.

The whooping cough does not seem to be infectious after about two weeks from the time of the appearance of the first whoop, although the coughing may persist for several months in severe cases. After the child has been exposed, there is generally an incubation period of from four days to two weeks before the first whoop. The average is ten days. At first there is a catarrhal stage with indications of a cold, slight fever, and persistent coughing. After the first week the cough does not disappear as with a cold, but becomes more convulsive. The first whoop marks the beginning of the convulsive stage and consists of a series of expiratory coughs with no intake of air until the child becomes blue in the face. The air is then suddenly drawn in, producing a characteristic whoop sound which may be heard from some distance. These coughing spells usually follow one another until a quantity of tenacious mucus is ejected, after which vomiting may take place and there is some relief until the next paroxysm. The number of these per day varies from four to twenty-four, and are more frequent at night.

This is one of the most distressing diseases to behold, as the victim seems in actual peril of suffocation during the attack. In cases that result fatally, the paroxysms sometimes occur as frequently as one hundred per day, and may be so severe as to produce a hemorrhage or a stricture of the throat. Some cases may turn into tuberculosis, pneumonia, asthma, valvular heart disease, or cause an escape of air from the lungs into the surrounding tissues.

When the child first begins to sneeze and cough, the best plan is to take away all food, with the possible exception of a small amount of orange or grapefruit juice, or whatever water is desired. Though the use of this precaution, whooping cough rarely ever develops into a serious disease. If these measures are not taken, the disease may progress to such an extent that the consequences may continue to fast on orange juice, or a week before returning to a well balanced diet. At the same time, daily treatments should be taken over the chest with high-power therapeutic light. If this is done, the usual serious consequences can be prevented.

Correspondents wishing to communicate with Dr. McCoy are advised that his address is Builders Exchange Building, Los Angeles, California, U. S. A.

Tri-Color for Juveniles

RED and navy as a duo or combined in the well-known tri-color dominates the color world in children's attire. There is no color scheme quite so youthful and so gay for the young miss with golden hair, black hair or brown. In tub-tast fabrics or woollens this trinity lends a pleasant spot of color to any schoolroom, which is a step in the right direction toward making lessons more agreeable.

Scotch ginghams in bright plaids or checks are very fashionable for crisp little frocks. Trimly collared with white pique and the neckline accented by a leather belt, such a dress wears a very sophisticated mien. Shops catering to children's needs are abounding in smart dresses of this character. Prints in the dot and floral designs are employed for bloomer dresses the smaller girl likes. Tiny checks and narrow stripes are also popular in one, two and even three-piece models.

POLICE BALL TO BE HELD NOV. 9

Fifteenth Annual Dance Promises to Be One of Outstanding Events of Season

November 9 is the date set for the fifteenth annual ball of the Victoria Police Department. Announcement of the date was made last night by Constable Arthur Bishop, secretary of the dance committee. In announcing the date it was also made known that dress for the occasion would be strictly formal.

The Empress Hotel ballroom has been secured for the occasion, and an artistic decoration scheme has been conceived by Inspector O. Boulton, who is chairman of the decoration committee.

One of the outstanding features of the ball will be the playing of the dual piano accompaniment by orchestra. The dual piano accompaniment to dance music is a novelty that was introduced in New York for the first time in the dancing public, for more background is given to the music and more variations are possible.

A buffet supper will be served during the evening. Sergeant J. Florence is in charge of the catering, which will be done by the Empress Hotel management. Tickets are now on sale and may be obtained either at the police office on Fisgard Street or from members of the force. Chief of Police John Fry, chairman of the dance committee, reports that tickets are selling rapidly.

FARMERS FACE MANY PROBLEMS

Minister of Public Works Speaks to Audience at West Saanich

The Conservatives of Ward Six, Saanich, had the opportunity at the reception given in honor of Premier Toimie to hear Hon. N. S. Loughheed, Minister of Public Works. Mr. Loughheed said that he was glad to have the opportunity of being with his friends in the riding.

The minister said that he had great sympathy with the farmers in their problems. As a longer he was closely identified with the farmers, for he had been engaged in taking the first harvest off the land.

In excuse for entering politics Mr. Loughheed said that it was sometimes said that when a logger went astray he went far astray. It was, he admitted, a rather long call from logger to the Legislature.

He said that he came from the riding that had given a native son, Sir Richard McBride, to the politics of the country. He was glad to see another native son in the person of Dr. Toimie filling the position, and he felt that he would make equally good with Sir Richard. It seemed as if they were really getting back to where Sir Richard left off in 1915.

The minister expressed his sympathy with the farmers living close to large cities in the problems that they had to face in the matter of keeping up the roads in their districts. The residents of the cities made use of the roads and the wear and tear on the country roads was heavy, with the result that the cost was great for the rural municipalities. He was ready to give attention to the finding of some way to help the farmers out in such matters. In doing so the cities were also being helped.

Mr. Loughheed asked the farmers not to be backward in presenting their problems before him. He would be ready at all times to hear them.

The West Saanich Women's Institute building, where the gathering was held, was most artistically decorated with flowers and greenery including also maple leaves in their Autumn tints. Mr. W. O. Wallace, the president of the district association, presided at the meeting.

During the evening musical selections were given. Vocal selections were contributed by Mr. D. R. Park, Miss Kenning, Mr. A. W. Trewett, and Mr. Spooner. Mr. Jesse Longfield contributed selections on the violin.

The refreshments were provided at the close of the meeting. The opportunity was afforded all present to meet the ministers before the refreshment hour.

Second Dramatogue Is Modern Play

The rebellious spirit shown by modern youth of the Old World toward the old social distinctions, is cleverly brought out by the author which was read at the second dramatogue of the season yesterday, at the Empress Hotel. The parts were excellently cast, and the contrast between the old and new schools of thought was shown with admirable spirit, the one character exemplified the compromising element of society being the father whose two children, Marian and Herbert, have found the idyllic luxurious mode of life in the class to which they belong, unutterably boring.

Miss Agnew took the part of the mother. The cast was as follows: Mrs. Tyrwhitt Drake, the mother; Mrs. Cudmore, her daughter; Marian; Mrs. W. H. Squire and Miss Frances Musgrave, the two chorus girls; Millie and Alice; Mrs. R. P. Bishop, the aunt; Mr. Frank Richardson, Uncle George; Mr. Arthur Wedd, the father; Major J. A. P. Crompton, the Duke; Mr. Dennis Gick, Herbert; Major Bullock-Webster, the chauffeur.

Among those seen in the audience were Mrs. O. M. Jones, Mrs. J. J. Shalleross, Mrs. Troupe, Messrs. de Suzannet, Mrs. F. V. Longstaff, Miss Cowell, Mrs. E. C. Senker, Mrs. J. H. Davies, Mrs. C. B. Charlewood, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Bayless, Mrs. Harry Davis, Lady Lake, Mrs. Waller, Mrs. Gunn, Mrs. Sutcliffe, Miss Barton, Mrs. George Hale, Mrs. D. J. Clark, Mrs. Harry Lawson, Mrs. Mouatt, Mrs. Milkie and Mrs. Bullock-Webster.

The next dramatogue will be on Monday, October 29.

GYROS PLEDGE THEIR LOYALTYANNUAL FOUNDERS' DAY IS OBSERVED BY CLUBMEN AT LUNCHEONPresident A. W. Trevett Tells of Growth of Movement—22 Clubs
Have 3,700 MembersVictoria Gyros yesterday observed their annual Founders' Day, and renewed their pledge to Gyro and expressed their faith in the Gyro movement for a friendly world peopled by those who give thought to kindly service.The purpose of Founders' Day is to familiarize every Gyro with the history and traditions of the Gyro International, and with this as the main theme, to develop a greater respect and reverence to Gyro ideals and Gyro friendship.President Arnold W. Trevett said the inception of Gyro dated back to the summer of 1911 when three college friends in Cleveland, Ohio, met from time to time for lunch or evening together. In the course of many talks together one of the main subjects was "What Are Our Mutual Friends Doing?" From this line of thought it was but natural,
he stated, to conceive of a club uniting together friends and their friends, so in 1912 the Gyro Club of Cleveland was organized. One of the founders of that organization was Mr. Edmund L. Kay, present secretary-treasurer of Gyro International.In 1914, through mutual friends in Chicago, there was organized, Mr.
Trevett continued, the Gyro Club of Chicago, followed soon by the Bufo-lo Club, then those of Cincinnati and Philadelphia. At this time there came need for a central organization, and in January, 1917, in a convention held at Cleveland, the International Association of Gyro Clubs was launched.The speaker pointed out that immediately at the conclusion of the great war, Gyro became active internationally. Toronto, Ontario, was granted a charter, and growth of Gyro in Canada and the United States dated from that time. From the one club with a charter membership of twelve in Cleveland in 1912, the Gyro movement has grown until today there are seventy-three clubs, twenty-nine in Canada, and forty-four in the United States, with a total membership of 3,700 members. Extension work was now going on in approximately 100 cities through friends."Gyro means friendship. To the real Gyro our motto means not only friendship, but his fellow members, but it means a friendly service to his city, state, province and country—a friendly attitude toward the people of the world. There are evidences of that friendly service all through the Gyro organization: the interest in orphanages, orphan asylums, playground equipment, and thousands of similar projects mentioned by President Trevett.
The objects of Gyro were outlined by Mr. Trevett as follows: 1. The promotion of friendship between individuals, states, provinces and nations. 2. The cementing of friendship and establishment of co-operation between all Gyro clubs wherever situated. 3. The wakening and maintenance of interest in public affairs, citizenship, good government, and civic and community affairs. 4. The preservation and extension of principles and ideals of the Gyro organization."SPEAKERS WILL

of British Columbia, will shortly be made. Dates for the delivery of these discourses and selection of the speakers are being arranged by the club's executive.The seven subjects on which door. Answering the summons she found a German on the doorstep.

"Do a minister luff in dis house?"
he asked.
"Yes," she told him.
"Well, I want to get married!"
"All right," replied the preacher,
"I will marry you."
The young German studied the woman for a moment, then, without comment, jammed his hat on his head and hurried away.
"Will you be back," she called.
"You gets no chance mit me," he answered, "I had got me a girl al-

telephone one morning, and a cheer-

DUNCAN HOSPITAL REPORT RECEIVED

Many Alterations and Additions Made Recently—Finances Satisfactory

DUNCAN, Oct. 15.—A meeting of the board of directors of the King's Daughters' Hospital, Duncan, was held at the hospital on Wednesday. Those present were: Mr. W. H. Elkington (chairman), Mr. T. A. Wood (vice-chairman), Mesdames W. H. Elkington, J. H. Whitmore, F. H. Price, J. L. Hird, H. Fry, E. F. Miller, Miss Wilson, Miss C. L. Jackson (lady superintendent), and Mr. E. W. Carr (lady secretary-treasurer).

Donations received and acknowledged with thanks, were: Towels from Margaret, Batters, Duncan; Vancouver; dressing gowns from Mr. Garnett, Cobble Hill; fruit and vegetables from United Church (Duncan); St. Peter's Church, St. Andrew's Church, St. Mary's (Cobble Hill), Glenora Church, and a scrapbook from Mizpah Mission Band. The house committee report presented by Miss Wilson, showed that many improvements had been made in the basement in the shape of cupboards for supplies, etc. The furniture for the nurses' home addition is very much needed, but the board is waiting to see what funds will be available for this.

The lady superintendent's report showed that 84 patients were admitted in September, 84 discharged, and 33 carried over. Days' treatment administered totaled 1,003, with a daily average of 33.4. Services rendered: Surgical, 63; medical, 25; obstetrical, 9; births, 5; deaths, 3; major operations, 6; minor, 38; general anaesthetics given, 18; local, 7; plaster casts, 2; X-ray pictures, 43; electrical treatments, 40; patients (out), 27.

As a result of a sewing bee held at Mrs. Mutter's on October 5, twenty-two patients' clothes bags were made ready for use.

Dr. Agnew, when visiting the hospital, made many useful suggestions which will be carried into effect when the funds permit.

The treasurer's report for the month of September showed receipts amounting to $3,854.90, and payments, $3,557.50. The accounts passed for payment totaled $4,003.00. The general turnover came to $2,791.00, and the X-ray to $317.50. Dr. Tolmie has been asked to pay a short visit to the hospital when he comes to Duncan on Wednesday. Many necessary alterations and additions have recently been made to the hospital, costing a considerable sum of money. The heating system, which has been installed at considerable cost, takes care of the general heating of the hospital, the sterilizing, hot water supply, running the laundry, and the nurses' home. The boiler house, being situated away from the main building, eliminates the risk from fire.

PIANO RECITAL IS MUCH ENJOYED

Colwood, Luxton and Langford Residents Attend to Hear Students' Performance

LANGFORD, Oct. 15.—The pupils of Mrs. H. Simpson gave a very enjoyable piano recital on Saturday evening, in the schoolroom, to a large audience, composed of representatives from Colwood, Luxton and Langford. Mr. H. Pearce presided and Miss Mary Higgs, of Victoria, a pupil of Mrs. Eva Baird; Mr. C. Bloeg, of Colwood, a pupil of Mr. A. Gurney, and Mr. John Dick, of Duncan, gave solos, which were much appreciated. Miss Ada Simpson was especially requested to give a piano solo, which was well rendered, and Miss Mildred Peatt presented her with a large bouquet.

At the close of the programme, the certificates of attendance were charmingly presented by Mrs. Alfred Peatt, one of the pioneer residents of the district, who had nursed only one of these recitals. Kathleen Goodall presented Mrs. Peatt with a beautiful bouquet of chrysanthemums. Mrs. John Dick was also given a bouquet, and Mrs. Simpson was presented with a handsome silver tray by Georgina and Betty Cooney, as a mark of affection from her pupils.

Mrs. Simpson replied appropriately, and called the attention of the audience to the fact that considerable courage was required by small children to carry out a programme of this nature. She also desired to thank the Women's Institute and Mrs. Matson for their assistance. The artists who assisted received a vote of thanks, and refreshments were served by a number of the young ladies of the district, assisted by Mrs. Simpson's pupils. A very happy evening was brought to a close by singing God Save the King.

Those who took part in the programme were: Mrs. C. M. Young, Miss Stella Hineks, Betty Cooney, Mildred Peatt, Mr. C. Bloeg, Greta Hebdon, Irene Peatt, Georgina Cooney, Winnie Guy, Miss Mary Higgs, Eileen Hineks, Margaret Guy, Miss Wilma Pike, Jack Wilkinson, R. Teeth so very white YET... they are only as Healthy as the Gums

SEEMINGLY safe with teeth so white, 4 out of 5 after forty, and thousands younger, find themselves victims of the disease of neglect—Pyorrhea.

This grim foe of health ignores the teeth and attacks the gums.

So take this precaution: See your dentist every six months and use the dentifrice that does far more than keep teeth clean.

Every morning and every night, brush your teeth with Forhan's for the Gums.

As a dentifrice alone, you would prefer it. Without the use of harsh abrasives it restores teeth to natural whiteness and protects them against acids which cause decay.

And in addition, if used regularly and in time, it helps gums to resist Pyorrhea by keeping them sound and healthy.

Get a tube of Forhan's. Use this dentifrice morning and night.

Teach your children this good habit which will protect their health in years to come. Also massage your gums daily with Forhan's following directions in booklet that comes with tube. Two sizes—35c and 60c.

The Lights that Failed

THE burning pine-knot, the feeble glimmer of the candle, the flickering flame of the oil lamp, the harsh glare of the gas-jet . . . these are stages through which humanity has struggled in its efforts to vanquish darkness. Each of these lights has afforded mankind a temporary satisfaction, a passing sense of comfort, and each has faded away before the coming of a brighter ray.

It remained for electricity to furnish a light which would rival the brightness of day . . . a light that would not fail.

All over the civilized world, millions of bright, happy homes, well-lighted work-rooms, handsome public buildings, light-protected thoroughfares, stand to witness how perfectly electricity has performed its task.

Wherever it goes, the light of the electric lamp touches its surroundings with new loveliness, revealing hidden beauties of color and contour. Wherever it goes, comfort and safety accompany it. And this electricity provides the cheapest artificial light that the world has ever known . . . a resplendent light that serves the humblest home at the touch of a finger.

In the history of electric lighting two names stand out pre-eminently—Edison, inventor of the electric incandescent lamp—Mazda, the symbol of a research service by which the electric lamp has attained its present advanced development. These two names are linked together inseparably in an outstanding product of Canadian General Electric Company . . . the Edison Mazda Lamp.

As Told by Big Leaguers

Talking Today

DONEY BUSH: The greatest fielding I ever saw.
 GEORGE GRANTHAM: The reason I don't kid Eppa Rixey.
 HUGH CRITZ: The Class D pitcher who broke my hitting streak.

ONIE BUSH, of the Pirates, says that the greatest individual game he ever saw was that turned in by Freddie Linderstrom during the final Pittsburgh series with the Giants in New York in September.

"I've often seen a third baseman get a third baseman's play in one game. This afternoon all Linderstrom's plays were hard. They were more than hard—they were almost impossible. But he came through every time. I've never seen anything like it."

"Early in the game Adams hit over the bag. Linderstrom dove through the air and nailed the ball with a back-hand catch in foul ground. Two innings later he caught one just as hard off Taylor. Next he knocked down one by Hargreaves, which he stopped by throwing himself at full length, and threw him out. Finally, with the bases full, he rushed in on a swinging hit by Paul Waner, made a desperate pick-up that left him on his stomach, and while in that position tossed to the plate for a forced play."

"We should have won by a score of 6 to 2 in nine innings. The Giants were fighting tooth and nail, however, to stick in the race for the pennant, and Linderstrom's plays saved four runs for them. "In the tenth inning, Terry hit for the circuit and the Giants won. "Linderstrom was wonderful all through the series, but that day he outdid himself."

GEORGE GRANTHAM A FEW
 George Grantham says that of all the big league pitchers he has faced, the elongated Eppa Rixey, of the Cincinnati Reds, is the jinxiest.

"I never had a good day against that fellow," says the Pittsburgh first baseman.

"Left-handers are the hardest for me, and Rixey is the worst of the lot."

"I'll never forget how foolish he made me look one day. He actually struck me out four times."

"I can only remember one pleasant happening in years of batting against Rixey, both as a Cub and a Pirate. It came last year. We needed a run to win and I came up with a man on base and scored him with a hit."

"No, it wasn't a home run, or a three-bagger, or anything like that. It was just a plain single. But I surely was proud of it."

"I didn't kid Eppa about it. Not me. I was afraid he'd bear down all the harder on me after that."

EVERYBODY ELSE HIT
 It's the unexpected in baseball that makes it so interesting, according to Hugh Critz.

"I hit safely in thirty-three consecutive games and was figuring I had a good chance to equal or better the American Association record of thirty-six games when I went into my thirty-fourth game."

"That day a young fellow from a Class D league was sent in to pitch against us. I thought it would be easy to keep my streak going. But while everybody else on the Minneapolis team hit safely that young fellow shut me out. He stopped me completely."

"He didn't last in the American Association, and drifted down to some Texas club. Meantime, I started hitting the day after he blanked me and ran another string of fifteen games in which I got at least one safe blow."

MARION DAVIES AS MONTE CARLO VAMP

Screen Favorite Seen as Rollicking Tomboy Flapper in Dominion's Feature

Marion Davies turns collegian again—to share a lover at Monte Carlo.

Gone is the Davies of "Quality Street," the demure, the loved and smiled; returned again is the rollicking tomboy flapper of "The Fair Co-ed," armed with a row, bag of tricks, a story with a chuckle in every line and a beauty that is nobody's business.

"The Fair Co-ed," which opened yesterday at the Dominion Theatre is a fun feat that moves so fast the audiences held onto their seats with one hand and their chests with the other. Imagine Marion Davies in a combination of French farce and American comedy; laid in Monte Carlo where men are men and women are out after 'em! It's a riot.

The picture can be compared to nothing the fair Marion has ever done, because the fair Marion has never done anything like it. A new comedy recipe has been discovered and the world will pause a moment to laugh at it.

"The Fair Co-ed" has everything that goes to make 1928 entertainment. If it has a moral, it is that when it comes to getting a man, the American flapper has it all over Europe.

COLUMBIA "The Enchanted Cottage," which is showing at the Columbia Theatre today is one of the finest of the series of films Richard Barthelmess has done for French fans because it presents Barthelmess and May McAvoy in character portrayals considerably different from anything else they have ever attempted. And it will also please those who like to see these two players as their natural selves in a part of the film they work without character makeups. For

GRETA GARBO HAS ROLE AS WAR SPY

Exotic Star Appears in "The Mysterious Lady" on Capitol Screen

In "The Mysterious Lady," now playing at the Capitol Theatre as a new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle for Greta Garbo, an unusual drama of European military intrigue is presented with a romantic love story supplying the motive.

The story is taken from a vivid novel from the pen of Ludwig Wolff, noted German novelist, and shows the spider-like web of espionage that was woven through the Continental armies before the World War.

Miss Garbo, as Tania Fedorova, beautiful Russian spy, brings to the screen another triumphant characterization. Conrad Nagel, playing opposite her for the first, gives a performance of great strength and romantic appeal.

On the stage this week the management are presenting a fine bill of vaudeville. Amongst the people are the Clark Sisters, harmony singers de luxe. Navin and Alexander, guitar and banjo artists supreme, and Jud Griffith, a dance band who dances. Al Prescott and his stage band, seriously as a career but at the same time he has always been convinced that Fritz had unusual promise in medicine. As a matter of fact, Fritz spent a year studying medicine during his period of storm and stress when, after astonishing the world as a prodigy, he became unadvisedly a musician. Finally, although he does not talk about it much, he once had a distinct intention to become a painter and when he was in Paris studying with Matisse, he was also working at Julien's, the most famous atelier of its time.

Kreiser Plays At Royal Victoria Saturday, Oct. 27

One of the most interesting features about Fritz Kreiser, who is making a tour of this country under the direction of C. J. Foley, of Boston, is his remarkable versatility. Harold Bauer, the great pianist, maintains that as great a violinist as Kreiser is, an absolutely supreme pianist was lost to the world when he chose the violin as his instrument. Kreiser's father, a famous physician and surgeon of Vienna, urged his son to take music seriously as a career but at the same time he has always been convinced that Fritz had unusual promise in medicine. As a matter of fact, Fritz spent a year studying medicine during his period of storm and stress when, after astonishing the world as a prodigy, he became unadvisedly a musician. Finally, although he does not talk about it much, he once had a distinct intention to become a painter and when he was in Paris studying with Matisse, he was also working at Julien's, the most famous atelier of its time.

NAVY LEAGUE TO LAUNCH CAMPAIGN FOR NEW MEMBERS

"Trafalgar Week" is campaign week for the Navy League of Canada and the Victoria branch will campaign for new members, so that in presenting the maritime problems of British Columbia and Canada to the Government of the day they may realize these matters are the product of a responsible, non-political organization, backed by substantial membership.

The Navy League can say it has been largely responsible for various improvements, both on this and the Atlantic Coast. Moreover, with its Sea Cadet Corps, it is training Canadian boys for a sea career, and almost every Canadian ocean-going ship leaving this and the port of Vancouver carries one or more Navy League apprentices serving time to learn the merchant marine.

On Saturday, October 20, a tag day will be held to raise funds to assist the Navy League to carry on work of training these boys, and on Saturday, October 27, the boys of the Sea Cadet Corps will put on a joint concert, with the Victoria Boys' Orchestra, at the Chamber of Commerce Hall.

Citizens are invited to be generous in support of each of above noted occasions.

Why I Like Selling Life Insurance

"Because—

"Each life insurance policy I sell (1) safeguards the home; (2) provides the necessary income for dependents; (3) furnishes the means for education of children; (4) enables people to enjoy independence, particularly in old age; or (5) builds and protects business, and therefore guarantees human happiness and prosperity.

"To realize something of the satisfaction there is in my work, all you would need to do is to go with me to any home where I deliver regularly every month the insurance cheque* which had been provided through loving forethought to keep the family from worry and want.

"If I am a trifle persistent at times in advising men to buy insurance, it's because I see so many even kindly husbands, through the pressure of other things, leave life insurance out and the helpless ones at home suffer."

A man age 40 could provide that in case of his death his family would receive $100,000 a month for 20 years, making $24,000 payable to them, for an annual deposit equal to $11.50 per week less dividends. (Other ages and other amounts in proportion). No one should longer go inadequately insured. Ask one of our representatives for particulars of our Jubilee policies.

Report of Arctic Patrol Shows Conditions Among Eskimos to Be Excellent

The future of the Eskimo race in Canada's Eastern Arctic islands will to a large extent depend upon the continued healthful vigor of those Eskimos on Baffin Island. In the opinion of members of the Dominion's 1928 expedition to the posts in the northern archipelago which returned on board the Ss. Beothic to North Sydney, Nova Scotia, recently.

The situation among the 1,800 native inhabitants of Baffin Island is reported as most gratifying. Their health generally is very good. The few cases of destitution in which relief had to be provided during the past winter were entirely those of old people. Practically all the native settlements on Baffin Island were visited by members of the various Royal Canadian Mounted Police detachments during their patrols, and the natives are reported as being of a uniformly fine type, well nourished, generally free from disease, and contented. Food animals were plentiful, seal and walrus abounding. The fur catch was reported as small but this did not appear to have any detrimental effect upon the well-being of the natives, although there was naturally a diminution in the business of the traders. An epidemic among children had occurred during the winter in the native settlement around Frobenius Bay. Thirty-five deaths resulted, mostly of children under five years of age. At the time the Beothic called at Lake Harbor, the nearest post, the outbreak had entirely passed and the natives were in excellent health and spirits.

PATROL REVIEWED
This year's patrol to the northern islands left North Sydney on July 19 with Mr. George P. Mackenzie of the North West Territories and Yukon Branch, Department of the Interior, again the officer in charge. During the trip north and until the ship reached Pangnirtung, Baffin Island, on its return trip, Dr. L. D. Livingstone was ship's doctor. Dr. R. M. Anderson, of the Geological Survey, Department of Mines, was naturalist; Mr. R. S. Finnie, secretary to the officer in charge, and Mr. R. T. Bowman, general assistant. Inspector A. H. Joy and a detail of members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police were also on board. Captain E. Paik was ship's master, and Captain J. D. Morin, ice pilot, and to their judgment and expert seamanship great credit is given for the success of this year's patrol. Mr. James Carliale was wireless operator.

The weather conditions during the voyage of the Beothic were very much better than those prevailing during the 1927 patrol. Fog was encountered but in the main the weather was clear and bright, with may days rivaling in warmth mid-summer days in more southerly latitudes. After leaving North Sydney, the Beothic encountered heavy seas in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Strait of Belle Isle. In Baffin Bay, the Beothic encountered the only serious trouble was experienced when the expedition was in the vicinity of the post of Bache Peninsula, Canada's farthest north detachment.

MEETS ROUGH SEA

Leaving North Sydney, the Beothic headed across the Gulf of St. Lawrence. A rough sea was encountered huge ice-pans, miles in extent, and taking advantage of this the Beothic was forced in between the milling edges of the pans, and after several anxious hours was steaming clear of the ice.

The ship continued southward, touching at Nerik settlement on the coast of Greenland, where two native families, who had been on duty with the police at Dundas Harbor, were returned to their homes. Craig Harbor, Ellesmere Island, was the next point of call, and considerable supplies stored there were taken aboard between August 8 and 11 for distribution to other posts. The Beothic crossed Lancaster Sound to Cape Sparrow, Devon Island, where moving pictures of a herd of musk-ox were secured. A second call was paid to Dundas Harbor, Devon Island, on

The steamer Beothic, on which the 1928 expedition made its round of the posts in the Northern islands. The ship is here seen in the ice in Buchanan Bay en route to Bache Peninsula, Ellesmere Island.

August 13, and Inspector Joy left the ship to make his temporary headquarters at this post. Continuing up Lancaster Sound to Beechey Island, the expedition established a cache for the use of Inspector Joy during his rounds next Spring. Returning, Pond Inlet was again visited on August 15, being approached through Navy Board Inlet. The ship continued south along the coast of Baffin Island and touched at the Hudson's Bay Company's trading post and native settlement of Clyde River, Pangnirtung, on Cumberland Sound, was reached on the morning of August 20. Dr. L. D. Livingstone disembarked at this point to establish headquarters here for his year's work among the natives of Baffin Island. Before the ship sailed on the evening of August 23, the frame of Dr. Livingstone's house had been erected, to be completed with the aid of the other residents at this post.

PATROL SUCCESS

The next port of call was Lake Harbor on the southern coast of Baffin Island, which was reached

AT DUNDAS HARBOR

The ship left Pond Inlet on the same day and reached Dundas Harbor, Devon Island, on July 31. After provisioning this post, the Beothic was headed northward for the dash to Bache Peninsula on Ellesmere Island. She arrived in Smith Sound on August 8 and met with considerable heavy ice. In fact, ice conditions were the worst encountered in years. Great pans of ice, miles in extent, of exceptional thickness, and piled mountain high with snow-filled Buchanan and Flager Bays, closing all avenues of approach to the post of Bache Peninsula. The Beothic attempted to enter Buchanan Bay through Rice Strait but this was also temporarily closed by ice, and Captain Paik, the ship's master, had to find a way through the field to the east around Pim Island. In this he was successful and the ship proceeded about five miles into the bay before it was again held up by ice. Members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police detachment at Bache Peninsula, who had been hunting walrus in the open water in the lower reaches of Buchanan Bay, met the ship at Rice Strait, and went on board.

On the second day after the arrival of the Beothic in Buchanan Bay there was little change in the ice conditions and it was deemed advisable to have the inspection of the post made, the mails exchanged, and changes in the personnel effected so that in the event of the post not being reached, supplies could be left at Fram Haven and the patrol continued. Inspector Jay with a party proceeded to the post by motor boat, which was able to navigate the comparatively open water between the pack and the shore, and carried out these duties, the trip requiring twenty-eight hours. The expedition, on the return of the party, took refuge in Fram Haven and remained there until the morning of the fifth day, when, with conditions unchanged, the supplies were landed and the Beothic prepared to continue her voyage. The stores could be moved to the post by dog team, or if ice conditions improved, by the police power boat.

ICE MOVES OUT

Little difficulty was experienced in getting the ship out of Rice Strait, which had cleared of ice in the interval. However, in Smith Sound, about ten miles from the south end of the strait, the further progress of the ship was barred by

Map showing the eastern portion of Canada's Arctic islands in which are located posts and points visited during the annual patrol just concluded.

on the afternoon of August 25, crossing Hudson Strait the Beothic touched at Port Burwell, after which the run down the Labrador coast was begun. Without further incident the expedition arrived in the port of North Sydney on September 2, forty-five days after sailing on the northern patrol.

The 1928 patrol of the Arctic island posts was a successful one and the reports brought back from the

AMERICANS BUY TWO NEW ICEMEN

Harry Broadbent and Johnny Sheppard Purchased by N.Y. Club—League Adopts New Rules

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The New York Americans grabbed the spotlight as the Board of Governors of the National Professional Hockey League met at the Waldorf Astoria today. Although all ten clubs were represented, virtually all of the news that came from the meeting concerned the Americans.

They announced the purchase of Johnny Sheppard from Detroit for $12,000, and of Harry Broadbent from the Ottawa Senators for $10,000 and one unnamed player. The club announced at the same time that the Green "Shorty" and "Red" Bill Boucher and Joe Simpson had been waived out of the league.

The board adopted two changes, one pertaining to increased penalties for delaying the game, and another under which a ten-minute period will be played instead of the usual "sudden death" session, when the contending teams are tied at the end of the regular scheduled time.

B.C.A.B. MOVES TO LET AMATEURS AND PROS MINGLE

VANCOUVER, Oct. 15.—Without a dissenting voice, the British Columbia Baseball Association, at its 1928 wind-up meeting at Spalding's on Saturday night, passed a resolution instructing its delegates to the annual meeting of the A.A.U. of C. at Port Arthur to press for amendment to the A.A.U. regulations whereby a professional in one sport might play in another as an amateur. The question was introduced by Secretary Stan Smith, the resolution being sponsored by Ray Stanger and Fraser McKenzie.

The A.A.U. will also be asked to delete the clause prohibiting a professional coach in amateur play.

The delegates to the A.A.U. are President Matt Hunter, of Victoria, and Past President Joe Baker.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

The Wisdom of Experience

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Jimmy Skunk had found an opening under the old barn on the farm next to Farmer Brown's and he had done there under there. On one side he had left a foolish young dog—a very sick feeling young dog—to whom he had just given a lesson. You see, that young dog had never met Jimmy Skunk before and he had foolishly attacked Jimmy.

"I guess he'll know better next time," thought Jimmy, as he lay down to rest. He was a very wise skunk, and he knew that the whines and whimpers of the dog outside. "There is nothing like experience as a teacher."

Now the owner of that dog up at the farmhouse had heard the excited barking of the dog when he had first discovered Jimmy Skunk. He had come outside the house to listen. Presently the little breeze brought to him Jimmy Skunk's unpleasant perfume. "That dog's got a skunk down there!" he exclaimed, and started down toward the barn. When he got down there he saw right away what had happened to the young dog. The dog was whining and whimpering and started to come toward him. But, of course, that dog had that perfume all in his coat, and his master backed away hurriedly. "Pshaw!" he cried. "Get away from me! Didn't you know any better than to tackle a skunk? Well, as long as you've done it, might as well finish the job. He's probably under that barn. Go in there and fetch him out!"

But that dog had learned his lesson. He wanted to obey his master, but he had no desire for another dose of that awful smelling scent that had choked him and made his eyes still smart. He looked up at his master and there was such a pathetic look in his face. His master pointed to the opening under the barn. "Fetch him!" he cried. "Fetch him!"

But he refused to go under the barn. He wagged his tail as hard as he could, but he backed away instead of going toward the barn. His master coaxed, but coaxing did no good. In the midst of it Jimmy Skunk poked his head out to see what was going on. At sight of him that dog put his tail between his legs and ran away. At a safe distance he turned, with his tail still between his legs, and looked back.

His master whistled and called, but the dog wouldn't come. Jimmy walked right out. He walked straight toward the dog's master, and the latter backed away in a hurry. "I ought to have brought my gun," said he. "I'll go back to the house and get it."

So he turned and hurried back to the house. Jimmy Skunk grinned as he watched him go. He took a few steps toward that dog. The dog turned and ran. Jimmy grinned once more. "I guess he has learned his lesson," said he. "I don't believe that dog will ever bother a skunk again. Experience is a great teacher. It certainly is a great teacher. A few minutes later he exclaimed, 'Hello, here comes that man back again! It looks to me as if he has one of those firecrackers. Of course, Jimmy meant a gun.'

It was true. The dog's master was returning with a gun. Jimmy knew something about guns. "That is no place for me," said Jimmy to himself. And, turning, he went back under the barn. He went 'way back out of sight of the opening of the barn, and then, just as if nothing exciting had occurred, he curled himself up in a far corner for a nap. He was safe and he knew it. Under there, there was nothing to fear from the terrible gun.

New York Stock Letter

(Supplied by Branno, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The stock market today was dominated by mixed influences and as a result was distinctly irregular. The call money rate ended at eight per cent and caused considerable scattered realizing, although at the same time some issues as Calumet and Hecla, Montgomery Ward, Union Carbide, Motor Products, and National Tea were rallied sharply and discouraged more active selling in the main body of stocks.

Oil as a group were higher, following the announcement that Atlantic Refining was to be split up on a basis of four to one. This brought the oil group, American Smelting, which has been in the process of reflecting split up talk, made no recognition of the three main announcements following the directors' meeting, however.

The day's feature was Calumet and Hecla following announcement of an upward revision in the price of copper. The sharp rise in the price of the metal, which has been in the process of reflecting split up talk, made no recognition of the three main announcements following the directors' meeting, however.

Pend Oreille Takes Option on Property

According to a report in mining circles in Vancouver, says a report to Miller, Conn. & Company, Limited, here, Pend Oreille Lead & Zinc Company have taken an option on the Reeves McDonald property. This property has been under development by the Victoria Syndicate during the last two and a half years, and more than 2,250,000 tons of the ore has been reported to have been blocked out.

Taking of an option by Pend Oreille will support statements that the entire area was being developed on a large scale, the complex ore of Pend Oreille district. This would probably mean that the new concern would market its products through the Anaconda Copper Company, of which it is a subsidiary. It is stated that sufficient power is available from the Pend Oreille River to industrialize the entire area. It is estimated that $20,000,000 will be required to finance the project, for which there is stated to be ample funds.

Montreal Stock Letter

(Supplied by B. C. Bond Corp., Ltd.)

MONTREAL, Oct. 15.—During the first hour of trading today on the Montreal Stock Exchange, prices displayed considerable strength and volume of trading left nothing to be desired. A new high record was recorded in a couple of issues, they touching new levels on the movement. When call money advanced from 1-2 to 7 per cent in Wall Street, an exchange developed in the big market, which was reflected locally in a mild manner.

Massey-Harris was again the big feature, being the most active issue on the list with a turnover of 12,310 shares out of a total of 41,431 for all stocks. It opened 1-8 higher at 52, and soon afterwards touched a peak for all time at 52 1-4, and then reacted to 51, after which it closed at a net gain of 1-2. International Nickel duplicated its record at 149 1-2 at the opening, eased off to 148 1-2.

British Dunlops And Subsidiaries

Now $200,000,000

TORONTO, Oct. 15.—Sir George Beharrell, managing director of the Dunlop Rubber Company, of Great Britain, reached Toronto last night in the course of a business trip, during which properties in Canada and Japan, bearing the company's name, but which have been operated independently, will come under control of the parent company.

Sir George stated that his company, which sold its Canadian properties to Canadian financiers twenty-nine years ago, has secured control of the common stock of the Canadian organization and that the linking of this company with others throughout the world would give the British company direct control of a $200,000,000 organization.

E. B. Rykman, Toronto, is president of the Canadian company.

ANOTHER UNSOLICITED TRIBUTE FOR ALL-BRAN

Good news for sufferers from constipation

Mrs. Kiehl sat down and wrote us a letter when she had proved ALL-BRAN a safe, "sure relief" for constipation. Read her voluntary tribute:

"I have been using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN for quite some time and I want to tell you how much I appreciate it. I have found it a sure relief for constipation, and know it is a remarkable regulator for the stomach. After using it in my family and I certainly will not be without it. I have even gone so far as to send some of it to my mother in Poland, Europe."

Gratefully yours,
MRS. ANNA KIEHL.
(Address on request.)

Perhaps you know what a terrible affliction constipation is. Brightening wherever it thrives. Ruining health. Marrying beauty. Causing headaches, back pain, foul breath, loss of sleep—indeed, leading to more than forty serious diseases.

But did you know it can be easily relieved by a pleasant cereal food? Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring relief. Eat two tablespoonful daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Serve with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Use in cooking. At grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

NOBLE FIVE IS FINISHING MILL

Fifty Tons a Day Will Be Starting Capacity, Which Will Increase Later

Definite announcement by Paul Lincoln, president and general manager of Noble Five Mines, Limited, that the 100-ton mill on the property will commence operations before the end of the month has appreciably strengthened this issue, which was recently listed on the Vancouver Stock Exchange. Mr. Lincoln states that the mill will commence operations, handling fifty tons of ore daily, and that this rate will be gradually increased until capacity is reached.

The Noble Five property, located about a mile and a half from Sandon, a station on the Kaslo-Nakusp branch of the C.P.R., was formerly owned by the late Hon. James Dunsmuir, former Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia. Mr. Dunsmuir acquired the property in satisfaction of a mortgage. In 1914 he undertook an extensive development programme over a period of six years and secured the services of Mr. Lincoln, internationally-known mining engineer.

Under supervision of Mr. Lincoln, more than $750,000 was expended on the property to bring it to a production stage, when the death of Mr. Dunsmuir occurred and the mine was closed in 1921. During the following years Mr. Lincoln endeavored to secure permission to operate the mine and in 1928 finally secured the property under working lease and bond. Noble Five Mines, Limited, was then organized and the famous Surprise mine, with a production record of more than $2,740,000, was purchased by the company.

Latest News From Wall Street

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Calling of loans by banks, accompanied by a run up in the call money rate to 8 per cent from the renewal level of 6 1/2 per cent, failed to impair the confidence in the stock market and the list on the whole moved forward aggressively.

Well-informed opinion was that the stringency in money was temporary and that the situation would ease perceptibly in a day or two.

Tightness was attributed to several factors, government financing, mid-month settlements and adjustment by banks of their reserve position at the central institution.

That the underlying in money conditions is easier is indicated by the fact that time money against stock exchange collateral is being freely offered at 7 per cent.

Steel issues were not so prominent in the trading as they have been of late, though both United States Steel and Bethlehem attained new highs in the early part of the session.

A rally in the automotive issues was led by Chrysler and Packard. New up prices were recorded by several specialties.

Montgomery Ward crossed the 300 level, which had been predicted for it.

Higher call rates are in store as the week progresses. The first result of the monthly turnover of funds should be apparent by tomorrow afternoon, after which a higher money market may be witnessed for the next two or three sessions.

Hudson Motors offered a lesson to stock market followers. As the liquidating market progresses there will be an increasing number of such happenings.

"BARBERRY BUSH"

One Girl's Marriage Problems
By KATHLEEN NORRIS

The disquieting thought returned more than once, during the long afternoon, when she and Amy and Barry and quiet young Dr. Ward Duffy were walking. It returned often in the days that followed.

Barbara Atherton, teaching in the soft, lazy mornings, watching the children as they shrieked and ran in the school yard at 11, and walking slowly home through familiar, quiet streets at 1:30 to the house that Mrs. Godley always had in order long before that time, wondered, sometimes, what life had been like to her, without the disturbing element of Marianne Scott.

She saw Marianne frequently, and when she did not see her, she managed always to have an idea of what Marianne was doing. The other girl's mere existence fretted her, everything she heard about Marianne seemed unduly important, seemed significant, almost menacing in Barbara's own scheme.

Fox Madison, for example, the florid, big, good-natured Englishman who had been a figure in the town for twenty years, had already nicknamed her, "Helen of Troy." Helen of Troy! What was the quality in a girl, what peculiar charm must she have, when a man, after a few weeks' acquaintance, could name her so?

Patto Roach, a tall, thin young man who had hitherto paid small attention to girls, also seemed to be strangely attracted to Marianne. Inez Wilson's house, an enormously big, wooden place, with mill-work decorating its turrets and bay windows, in a very jungle of garden shrubs and trees, and begonia blooming in a little conservatory off the dining-room, became, for the first time in its forty years, now that Marianne was in it, quite a meeting-place for the younger crowd.

There was tennis there on Saturday and Sunday afternoons, and there were boys and girls spending the evening there almost every night. Twice, in her first month in Cottonwood, Marianne and Inez and Link Mackenzie, with his married sister, Lucy Barnard for chaperon, went for the week-end to Del Monte, and to San Francisco. At Del Monte they played golf and watched the polo and dined at Pebble Beach; and in San Francisco they shopped and went to the theatre. On the first occasion, Barbara was asked:

"But I don't see how you could possibly jam Lucy and Marianne and Inez and me into your roadster?" she had objected.

"Oh, we're borrowing my father's car. Seven passengers."

"Well, I'll ask dad." And Barbara, without feeling much heart in the project, had indeed asked her father.

"Driving to Del Monte, Saturday, eh? And coming back Sunday night after dinner? Whose guest would you be, Bab?"

"Well—Lucy's, I guess, Lucy and Otis Barnard are chaperoning."

"Lucy—" the professor had reminded her. Looking over his glasses in a way that generally signified disapproval—"Lucy didn't ask you?"

"No, Link asked me. It's the way they do things, now, making plans in a rush without stopping to think much of the details. Marianne just suggests something, and in two seconds they're all talking about it. Lucy would have asked me, I suppose, if she had been there."

"Oh, Lucy wasn't there?"

"No, but Link was going on to talk to her, when he brought me home."

"Well," the professor had said finally, returning to his paper, "I'd rather you didn't go. I don't care much about these week-end parties of young persons in hotels. At the same time, if you very much want to go, I shan't stop you. Only, there's a big expense to it. However, use your own judgment."

Barbara had hesitated, undecided, in spite of Amy's vigorous nod, from behind her father's head, and Amy's mouth rounded to form the word, "go!"

"You'll have piles of fun!" Amy had urged later. But Barbara had decided not to go, after all. She knew, by this time that wherever Marianne Scott was, she would not have piles of fun.

Marianne, who seemed to men the juiciest and most original of companions, was instantly recognized by every woman with whom she came in contact as a person who did not play fair. Her game was always for herself against all comers, and to win a laugh from the company, or to impress a man with her own attractiveness, there was no friendship Marianne would not sacrifice and no sensitive heart she would not wound.

Her art in drawing the interest of the group to herself, her skill in making herself seem fascinating, were helped by a sense of absolute self-confidence, of native power. And power she really did have, the strange quality of always being able to make what happened to Marianne Scott seem the important and enviable thing.

Miraculous Escape; Car Goes Over Bridge Into Capilano Canyon

WEST VANCOUVER, Oct. 15.—Crashing through the railing of Capilano Bridge, on Marine Drive, and hurtling thirty feet through the air to the gravel below, Donald McMaster, Thirteenth Avenue West, and Miss Patricia Locke, George Street, East Vancouver, had a miraculous escape from fatal injury at 8 p.m. Sunday. They were driving to Vancouver from Horseshoe Bay, when the accident occurred. McMaster, the driver, stated he had forgotten a curve in the bridge, and was on the railing before he realized his error. He applied his brakes, but the car skidded and ran through the guard.

The victims were removed to North Vancouver General Hospital. McMaster suffered a fracture of the left thigh and abrasions. Miss Locke suffered injury to the right eye, cuts and bruises. The car was completely wrecked on the gravel bed of the river.
